Mt. Vernon, Feb. 21.—Upon the convening of court this morning, ex-Cashier James F. Lingafelter of the defunct Newark Savings Bank, was arraigned on the indictment charging specifically that he had forged a receipt for $300 to H. O. and Blanche Crawmer, a receipt for three $100 certificates of paid-up stock.

The defendant was told to stand up and plead to the indictment. Clerk Mockwort read the indictment, to which James F. Lingafelter listened attentively. Occasionally his tongue would wet his lips, but otherwise he was absolutely unmoved.

Judge Coyner, at the conclusion of the reading said: "How do you plead, Mr. Lingafelter, to this indictment?"

"Not guilty," was the reply, in tones that were heard distinctly in every part of the court room.

The jury was then called.

Mr. Stillwell asked Mr. James T. Witherow whether he was not an attorney for him and Mr. Owen against him in a case now pending in the Knox county court. He said, "Yes," and was excused. Mr. H. T. Sapp was called, also Alex Bricker. Mr. Bricker was excused, as Mr. Stillwell was an attorney against him in a case now pending. Mr. Owen asked him whether or not he had read the newspaper accounts of the trial, whether or not he was in any way connected with any Building association, whether or not he had heard why the case had been sent to Knox county for trial. He was not challenged for causes by the defense at his time. There was no challenge on the part of the defense for cause, as the jury then sat. J. F. Gardner was excused on peremptory charges by the State. A. J. Barr was not present at his time. Harry Sanderson, an attorney of Mt. Vernon, not now in active practice was then called. He claimed the privilege and the law was read to Judge Coyner which was conclusive upon the subject that an attorney was not compelled to sit on a jury. Mr. Sanderson was excused by order of the court. George Rowley, O. M. Arnold, George McKee of the original panel were sick. The court took a short recess to allow A. J. Barr and Isaac Harmer to come from Centerburg on a belated train. Both were qualified. The jury which will try J. F. Lingafelter for forgery is given at the head of this dispatch.

Immediately after the jury was sworn Prosecutor Fitzgibbon stated his case. He said to the jury that in addition to proving the forgery alleged in the indictment, the state expects to prove that in 1898 a certificate of paid up stock was issued to Ignaz Elias and that a few months afterwards the certificate was presented and paid. That in 1902—four years afterwards, an order was drawn and a receipt given, all in the handwriting of James F. Lingafelter, purporting to be in redemption of the certificate paid five years before. At the time an order was issued and a receipt given, for a dividend on said stock. The state expects to prove that William J. Cook, a B. & O. engineer, was owner of a paid up stock certificate, which was redeemed in 1900. In February, 1901, an order was drawn and a receipt issued, all in the handwriting of James F. Lingafelter, purporting to be in payment of said certificate. That in 1899, James Cormican was owner of paid up stock certificate of $400, which he transferred to Carl Norpell in part payment on a farm. Mr. Norpell in June of 1900 presented the certificate and Lingafelter drew an order and issued a receipt and that the certificate shows on its back that it was cancelled in July, 1899. In June, 1900, an order was drawn and a receipt signed in full for a certificate of stock in the name of Timothy Fitzpatrick, that Timothy Fitzpatrick never owned the certificate for $100, which had originally been issued to Mrs. Rachel Haynes. That the same transactions were made in reference to a certificate of stock where the name William Roller was signed to the receipt, that he never owned the certificate, but that it had been issued to Julia Henthorne and had been redeemed.

Mr. Owen made a statement for the defense to the effect that they expect to prove that Lingafelter at the time of the alleged forgery was receiving a salary of $1000 as secretary of the Homestead Building Association, $1200 as cashier of the Newark Savings bank and $1800 dollars as receiver of the Newark and Granville railway company; that altogether he was earning between $6000 and $8000 a year. They expected to prove that George Webb, as attorney and all the directors always had access to all the books as well as Lingafelter.

The First Witness.

H. O. Crawmer was the first witness called by the state. His testimony was to the effect that in the spring of 1898 he took out a certificate of paid up stock for $300 in the names of himself and his wife. This certificate was redeemed in 1899, and was left with Miss Anna Lavin, who waited upon him on his visit to the Building Association, and that she gave him an order and he got his money in full, that he signed the receipt which was shown him for this amount, that he had received no money from the Building Association in 1900. It is alleged that this transaction which was genuine, was on March 20, 1899. The name of Harvey and Blanch Crawmer appeared on a receipt dated July 5, 1900.

Mr. Owen was cross-examining Mr. Crawmer when the noon recess was called.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON'S SESSION.

(By Wire from Staff Correspondent.)

Mt. Vernon, Feb. 21—When court met this afternoon the cross-examination of Mr. Crawmer was begun, but in this nothing new was developed.

The first witness this afternoon was Ignaz Ilias. He testified that he had a certificate of stock issued to him in 1894 and a few months afterwards presented it and it was paid. He was shown a receipt dated in 1898 and testified that the signature was not his. William J. Cook was the next witness. His home is now in Shawnee, formerly in Newark. He is an employe of the B & O. and testified that he owned a paid up stock certificate for $200. After July 25, 1900 he never received any money from the Association. He was shown the signature on a receipt which read "William J. Cook, by James F. Lingafelter." He testified that this was his handwriting. Prosecutor Stillwell offered a receipt in evidence, stating that the receipt itself would show that the witness was mistaken.

At this point the defense strongly objected to the course of the prosecutor in attempting to impeach his own witness. Mr. Fitzgibbon stated to the court that he was not attempting to impeach the witness, but that he was evidently mistaken and misinformed.

The next witness was Timothy Fitzpatrick, a B. and O. machinist. He testified that he was the owner of $600 paid-up stock in the building association; that he still has it and has received no payments except those made by the receiver.

Another Timothy Fitzpatrick, a helper for the B. and O., was the next witness. He stated that he had taken out a $500 certificate in 1896. Later he drew $400 and has $100 left; that he received no money on the $100 except the payments made by the receiver. He testified that a signature to $300 receipt was not his own, and that he had not received at any time any such amount.

As forecast in these dispatches, Judge Coyner has issued orders for a night session of court tonight, and this case will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

The maximum penalty for forgery is from 1 to 20 years, at the discretion of the court.

The jury, which was dismissed by Judge Coyner on Monday, on Monday evening presented Court Bailiff Patrick Purcell with a handsome watch charm as a mark of their appreciation of his services and courtesy during the trial.

DETECTIVES

Who Return to Cincinnati, Say That They Will Enter Suit Against Lingafelter.

Detectives Burkholz and McQueston returned yesterday from Mt. Vernon, Ohio, where they were arrested on charges of perjury, preferred by Robert Lingafelter, the alleged bank wrecker of Newark. The detectives stated that Lingafelter expected to drive them out of the city to prevent them from testifying, but half of the citizens offered to furnish bail. They say they intend to sue Lingafelter after the case at Mt. Vernon has been disposed of.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

JUDGE SEWARD

Will Not Hold Court Tomorrow as He Is a Witness in the Lingafelter Trial.

Common Pleas court will not be in session here on Wednesday on account of Judge C. W. Seward being summoned to Mt. Vernon as a character witness in the trial of J. F. Lingafelter.

IT MAKES THEM SMILE.

Mr. Vernon, O., Feb. 21—The statement attributed to one of the jurors who found R. C. Lingafelter guilty on Saturday evening, to the effect that he regretted that he had been persuaded to agree with the others in declaring the young Newark man guilty of forgery, makes the state's attorneys smile. They say that it is only necessary to point out the fact that for seven consecutive ballots ten men voted for conviction and two voted blank. They did not vote for acquittal at any time.

The Republican News of this city, said last evening:

It is said that the jurors were unanimous as to the defendant's guilt from the very first. The delay in reporting was due to time taken in looking over books and other matters offered as evidence. Several ballots were taken, all resulting the same.

ELEVEN WERE CHURCH MEMBERS

After the jury in the case of Ohio vs. Robert C. Lingafelter had retired Saturday afternoon and while the jurors were getting ready to consider the case, the question of church membership came up. It developed that 11 of the 12 men were members of churches. The one man who was not stated that while he was not a member of any church, his wife was a mighty good Christian woman and a church member.—Mt. Vernon Republican News.

RIVALS

Meet at Girl's Home and One Dead, the Other In Jail.

Connellsville, Pa., Feb. 21.—A girl's attempt to prevent a tragedy by sending her sweetheart upstairs while she engaged the young man's rival in conversation at the door proved unavailing, when Charles Austin, 19 year old, shot and killed Charles E. Anderson, 22 years old. Anderson's body lies at the morgue, while Austin is in the Connellsville lockup. Both men were suitors for the hand of Miss Clara Neth, 17 year old, daughter of Mrs. John Wilkie.

ONE HUNDRED

Are Entombed in Mine Near Birmingham, Ala.

ALL BELIEVED TO BE DEAD.

Victims are Skilled Hands and Members of the United Mine Workers of America.

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 21.—Rescuers at work at the Virginia mines, where an explosion late yesterday afternoon imprisoned 150 miners, labored all night, digging through tons of debris in an effort to reach the entombed men. A report this morning said that sixty bodies had been found but this is as yet unconfirmed.

It is known that at 3 o'clock the diggers were near the place where the entombed men were supposed to be. A telephone message today from Bessemer, says that practically all hopes of finding the men alive has been abandoned.

Wives and children of the entombed men hovered around the mouth of the mine all night and many pitiable scenes were presented. Not a person slept in Virginia last night and scores of miners from throughout the district hurried to the place to aid in the work of rescue.

By 9 o'clock this morning nine bodies had been taken from the mine. Over 100 bodies are still in the mine and it is certainty the men are dead. Women and children camped all night at the mines, keeping themselves warm by fires built in the rain. Their cries could be heard some distance and as each body was brought to the surface, a new wail of heart-rending anguish would go up.

The faces of the dead men were so begrimed with dirt that they were unrecognizable at first glance and each woman thought the dead man her husband or brother. The men are one thousand feet from the surface. Three hundred men are at work, but it is impossible to tell when they will reach the great majority of the bodies on account of the mass of earth between them and the dead. It is the worst mine disaster in the history of Alabama. It is certain there are fully one hundred dead and there may be more. State President Edward Flynn of the United Mine Workers is in charge of the rescue work.

The number of men in the mine when the explosion occurred is now placed at 116, including two bodies already recovered.

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 21.—More than a hundred miners were entombed by an explosion in the Virginia mine, 18 miles southwest of this city, and it is believed all are dead. The explosion is believed to have been caused by an accumulation of dust, although the mine has heretofore been noted for being entirely free from dust. It is also believed that as the entire quota has probably been killed, the details of the cause of the disaster will never be known.

Relief trains with surgeons and workmen were dispatched from both Birmingham and Bessemer as soon as the news of the disaster was learned. They began the work of succor in earnest. The slopes are well arranged and there has never been the least trouble in the mines before. They are owned by the Alabama Steel & Wire company, but are leased and operated by Reid & Company.

Between 110 and 135 men were employed. President Flynn of the United Mine workers, and National Committeeman W. R. Fairly, together with Joe Hallier, district organizer, have left for the scene. President Flynn said before leaving that there were 135 men employed in the mine regularly, but as Monday was payday, he could not say whether the full quota was in the mine at the time of the disaster or not.

The class of miners employed was the best in the district, and all belonged to the United Mine Workers of America. Since the strike has been on in the Birmingham district many of the most industrious and thrifty miners of Pratt City and other important mining points have removed to the Virginia mines, so that the mines were being worked to their full capacity by the most skilled miners in the community.

BITTER CONTEST

Is Being Waged in Pittsburg Today—Polls Closed—Officers are Arrested—One Died.

Pittsburg, Feb. 21—Municipal elections are in progress in Pittsburg and Allegheny and votes are being cast for councilmen and ward officers, but a light [illegible] As the returns [illegible] of charges and counter-charges, the polling places of a number of districts in both cities were ordered closed, and officers are now at the court house. One deputy sheriff was arrested in the First district, Seventh ward, Pittsburg. The police, several in plain clothes, were watching the Fourteenth district of the Thirteenth ward, where trouble was anticipated. Becoming convinced that something was wrong, the officers placed five members of the election board and two overseers under arrest, and closed the polls. Shortly after his arrest, Daniel Dwyer, aged 55 years, clerk at the polls, died suddenly as the result of heart failure.

MANY KILLED

In Street Fighting Say Dispatches Just Received from Baku—The Troops Called.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 21—Dispatches from Baku today state that street fighting broke out there on Sunday between Musselmans and Armenians. Thirty-five persons were killed or wounded. The hostilities were resumed yesterday. All the rioters are well armed and the police were unable to cope with the situation.

All business was suspended on account of the trouble and yesterday evening it was feared civil war on a small scale was imminent. Reinforcements were summoned and today the rioters are being subdued.

BEEF TRUST

The Subject of an Investigation by the Federal Grand Jury at Chicago, Illinois.

Chicago, Feb. 21—A special federal grand jury venire was ordered today and ten deputy United States marshals were sent out with subpoenaes summoning more than 25 members of the Beef Trust. When the federal grand jury has been sworn in these men will be taken before it and an attempt will be made to indict persons restrained by Judge Grossop in the Beef Trust case which was recently sustained by the United State Supreme court. It is said this action is the outcome of orders from Washington.

CHADWICK GEMS

Secretary of Treasury Has Taken Up the Alleged Smuggling of Mrs. Chadwick.

Washington, Feb. 21—Secretary of the Treasury Shaw has taken up the matter of the alleged smuggling of Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick, and the reported concealment of a large portion of her assets. Late yesterday collector of customs, Chas. F. Leach, of Cleveland, came to town and had a lengthy conference with the secretary of the treasury, Comptroller of the Currency Ridgley, Chief of Special Agents Parker, and Chief of the Insolvent Division Oldham, of the comptroller's office. Particulars of the conference were not given out, but late last night Mr. Leach in company with Mr. Oldham, started for New York supposedly in quest of the alleged smuggled gems and secreted dollars.

Counterfeiting in Prison.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 21—In a cell at the penitentiary there has been found a counterfeiting outfit, which convicts own and operate and from which they have turned out many ten cent pieces and quarters.

BIG BATTLE

About to be Fought in the Far East, So It is Said.

Tokyo, Feb. 21.—That the greatest battle of the war is about to be fought in Manchuria is confidently expected by members of the Japanese general staff. The advices from Gen. Oyama for the past three days have indicated that the Russians are massing troops on both his flanks with the evident intention of beginning an advance in a very short time. The Japanese commander reports a number of small fights which he believes to be in the nature of feints to try out the strength of his position.

Without an exception the Russians have found him prepared and have been driven back with loss. The disposition of Marshal Oyama's army is such that he can foil any possible attempt at Russian aggression and take advantage of any weakness which may develop in the Russian line. The Japanese engineers have been busy during the long period of inaction and every possible means to facilitate the movement of troops from one part of the long line to another has been provided.

BON MARTINI MURDER TRIAL OPENED TODAY AT TURIN, ITALY

Countess in the Prisoner's Dock Was Once a Noted Beauty ---Woman and Her Former Lover to be Tried For Slaying Count in 1902.

TURIN, ITALY, Feb. 21—The Bon Martini murder trial, the most sensational case in latter years in Italian court history, was reopened today. Countess Theodolinda Bon Martini, widow of the murdered Count, was put in the prisoner's dock. She was a noted beauty. The Countess and Doctor Secchipher, her former lover, will be accused of premeditating and instigating the assassination of the Count, while Dr. Murri, the Countess' father, and Dr. Naldi will be accused of committing the assassination by thirteen dagger thrusts in the body of the Count.

Rossa Bonetti, mistress of the Countess' brother, will be charged as an accomplice.

Dr. Murri will be further accused of rifling the body of jewelry, money and documents. The murder of Count Bon Martini occurred on August 20, 1902. He was a man of herculean strength and of unspeakable immorality. The Countess is said to have indulged herself in orgies little less revolting than those of her husband. On the day of the murder Murri, Naldi and Rossa Bonnetti awaited the Count in his rooms and when he entered threw him down and stabbed him to death.

STANDARD OIL

Stock Declines 31 Points in a Week.

IT IS RESULT OF AGITATION

By Three States, By Congress, President and by Thos. W. Lawson Of Boston.

New York, Feb. 21.—Standard Oil company stock sold today for $600 a share, a decline of 31 points within a week as the result of the agitation against the company by the President, Congress, Kansas, Texas and California. The drop represents a shrinkage of $31,000,000 in the total market value of the stock. One week ago, Standard was selling at $646 a share. During the interval a quarterly dividend of $15 came off the stock.

Sacramento, Calif., Feb. 21.—The assembly committee on oil interests last night resolved to recommend the passage of a bill making the Standard Oil company pipe lines common carriers.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 21.—The Wisconsin legislature may come to the assistance of Kansas in the fight against the Standard Oil company. It is said the wholesale grocers are behind the move.

Topeka, Kans., Feb. 21.—Former Attorney General Frank S. Monnett, of Ohio, who has long fought the Standard Oil company, has been employed by the Kansas Oil Producers Association to assist in the fight against the Standard. It is also stated that Congressman Hearst is going to send to the scene the lawyer who represents him in his fight against the Anthracite coal trust.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 21—Resolutions will be introduced in the legislature today to investigate the Standard Oil company. The Democrats have started the agitation and one of the resolutions will come from the minority side. The Republicans are considering the introduction of a sweeping resolution as the majority has information of the laying of a pipe line across the state which they may ask to have investigated by a commission which will be provided for by a resolution.

TEXAS OIL FIELD

Will be Personally Investigated by the President When He Takes a Trip Soon.

Washington, Feb. 21—President Roosevelt will probably make a personal investigation into the oil situation of Texas when he takes a trip to San Antonio next month. It is charged that the Standard Oil company has practically ruined the Beaumont field by reckless annihilation of the opposition, arbitrary control of pipe line and other evils.

Bride from Ohio.

London, Feb. 21—S. T. Evans, M. P., member of parliament, was today married at Kings Weigh House chapel to Mrs. Blanche Dupuis, the daughter of Charles Rule of Ohio.

STUDENT STRIKE

Quit Studies as Protests Against Bureaucracy.

SEEK ASSEMBLY AND REFORM

The Proposed Summoning of the Lemsky Labor is Characterized As Inadequate.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 21.—With the decision of the students of the University of St. Petersburg to suspend studies for remainder of the year, almost the whole educational system of Russia has entered upon a period of stagnation, the protest of the youth of Russia against the bureaucratic system and other governmental grievances. Other universities of Russia, gymnasia, and even grammar schools, were already on strike, and the military in various portions of the empire have been obliged to resort to force to restrain school boys of tender years who are joining the general movement. The meeting of St. Petersburg students, at which over 3,000 participated, besides voting with practical unanimity to suspend studies until Sept. 1, adopted a set of political resolutions demanding the formation of a constituent assembly and characterizing the proposed summoning of the zemsky zebor as inadequate for the emergency. The resolutions, after speaking of "the progressive demoralization of Russia under the influence of the absolute regime," declare for freedom of speech, the press, conscience, the right of association and assembly, and to strike, which are described as necessary conditions for the progress of the Empire. The gathering also unanimously decided to express disapproval of the action of the government in dealing with the workmen who attempted to present their petition to the emperor on Jan. 22, and its sympathy with the victims of the soldiery. A large faction voted in favor of stopping the war. A strong revolutionary feeling was manifested at the meeting, the red flag was waved and the "Marseillaise" and other revolutionary songs were chanted. A large portrait of the emperor in the auditorium of the university where the meeting was held was torn to strips. The police did not interfere.

The joint commission of employers and workmen instituted by the emperor to investigate the causes of labor disturbances is now taking shape. The workmen of a number of large factories have already elected representatives to the assemblage which will choose the labor members of the commission.

MY NUGGET

[Original.]

I had prospected in the Colorado gold regions and sunk many a hole. My ideas of fortune had begun with visions of owning one of the big names of the state, had been reduced to making a few hundred thousand dollars and had finally settled into discouragement and a decision to go home as poor as I had come. This I did not relish, for I had a girl there whom I had left several years before with a lordly scorn at her suggestion that I should settle down to hard work at home, with her to keep house for me and do the hewing of wood and drawing of water. I would go west, make a fortune, and she would have a corps of servants to do the hewing and the drawing.

I gathered up my camp kit, put my pick on my shoulder and started off in an aimless fashion. I was not settled in my mind what to do. At home there was poverty with Sara; where I was, there was poverty alone. It was pride that made me irresolute about returning. Passing a cleft in some mixed rock and earth, a prospecting instinct was still strong enough in me to induce me to put the point of my pick into it. Almost immediately I took out a nugget which from its looks I judged might be worth $5,000 or $6,000. All my wild dreams recurred to me, and I dug on, expecting to make a strike; but, though I spent several days at the work, I found no more gold in paying quantities. Then I resolved to go home. I came to this resolution in the evening and after scratching my initials on my nugget went to sleep. The next morning it was gone. Some one passing must have seen me sleeping and robbed me.

I had thrown aside a few lumps from my hole for more careful inspection and now examined them, finding three of aggregate value sufficient to pay my expenses to the east. I was still determined to go home.

In the stagecoach that was to take me to the railroad among the passengers were two who were noticeable, a swaggering miner with a pistol strapped to each hip and a diminutive traveling parson. The miner admitted that he carried $10,000 worth of dust in his belt and would like to see the man who would get it away from him. The parson was beside himself with dread lest road agents should attack us, starting at every sound from without. The miner was telling how he had once beaten off half a dozen robbers single handed, when a shot was heard, the driver came tumbling from the box and the coach came to a sudden stop. A single masked highwayman stepped up to the coach door and opened it with his left hand, while in his right he held a short cocked rifle, and ordered us to alight one by one. This precaution he doubtless took because he was alone.

The miner, being nearest, was ordered out first. He stepped out nimbly enough. The robber took off his revolvers and slung them by the belt over his own shoulder, then ordered him to disgorge. The miner handed him a lump which at a glance I recognized as my nugget. I got out next, then the others, except the parson, who shrank into a corner whimpering:

"Spare me, my good man! Oh, spare me! I'm a man of God, with but a few dollars!"

"Come out o' that," roared the robber, "or I'll make a hole in you!"

This threat seemed to throw the little parson into a spasm of fear. He still shrank back, piteously begging the robber to spare his life. The robber put his head and shoulders into the stage, seized him by the collar and was dragging him roughly out, the rifle meanwhile being lowered, when we heard a shot, and the robber rolled back on to the coach steps face upward. There was a small round hole in his forehead from which the blood oozed.

The quickest change I ever saw in my life was in the parson. He was bending forward with a smoking Derringer in his hand which he had held in his sleeve and with which he had, quick as a flash, shot the robber. Seeing the latter quite dead, he sprang forward, kicked the body down on to the ground, and ordered me to go to the horses' heads and unloosen the reins, which were tied around a forward wheel; then, as the miner stooped to take his pistols from the dead robber, the parson dragged him back by the collar and in a twinkling clapped a pair of bracelets on his wrists.

"Jim Maxey," he said to his prisoner, "I come up from Denver for you. You're wanted for the Simpson robbery."

The effect of this sudden change was reviving to all save Maxey, who was sullen enough. I told the detective that the nugget the thief had passed to the road agent was mine, and he said that I could have it if I could prove property. This was easy, for I had only to mention the mark I had put upon it. He examined it and gave me my property at once, being convinced that I owned it and not caring to put me to the delay and risk of getting it after his prisoner was turned in.

In another week I was at home, and when I told Sara that I had sufficient capital with which to begin the world the practical girl declared that it was more than she ever expected I would bring back. My nugget agreeably disappointed me in bringing $7,800. I spent a few hundred of it in developing the hole from which it was taken but with no gold in paying quantities. I have since been happy with Sara as a [illegible] business man.

Spring Hats This Year Are More Attractive Than Ever.

The new spring hats are the prettiest seen for many a long day. Quaint picture affairs and poke bonnets of ye olden times are to be worn. There is one model christened the "Mistress Kitty Bellairs," an exact reproduction of the fascinating hat trimmed with nodding feathers worn by that bewitching little flirt in the play which bears her name.

A dainty poke is made of leghorn faced with a soft pink fluff of chiffon and trimmed with pink roses and long pink streamers that tie in a coquettish fashion at the left of the chin.

Lace hats of Irish crochet dyed to match the costume are to be popular. The trimming blends perfectly with the body color of the hat. The trimming is often a mass of blossoms, shading from lightest to the darkest tones in the hat.

A lovely opera bag is made with a quarter of a yard of moire silk cut into two square or oblong pieces. One piece is embroidered in a graceful design of flowers, or the monogram is worked in silk surrounded with an empire wreath. The wreath is very attractive embroidered in gold or silver bullion or in tiny beads of many colors.

A very useful and at the same time elegant opera bag is made of cloth of gold, with a monogram done in heavy gold bullion. The bag is lined with old gold satin and mounted in a metal frame of yellow gold.

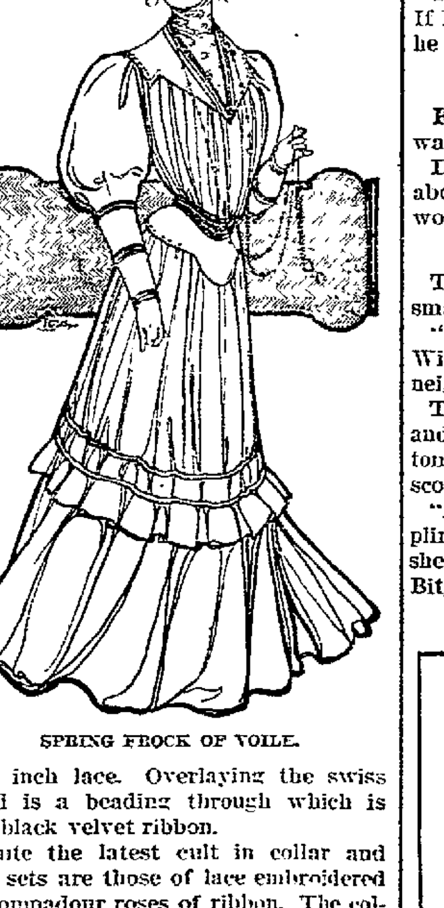

The demiseason hat in the cut is of black malines draped in soft folds about the sharply upturned brim. Small white ostrich feathers surround the crown.

Ribbon Is a Prominent Dress Trimming—New Collar and Cuffs.

A new and dainty neck trimming is made of val lace. An inch wide piece of the lace is gathered on one edge of a half inch band of swiss. On the other edge of the band is a ruffle of half inch lace. Overlaying the swiss band is a beading through which is run black velvet ribbon.

Quite the latest cult in collar and cuff sets are those of lace embroidered in pompadour roses of ribbon. The collar is rather deep and develops into a tablike piece in front. The cuffs are built on the same lines.

Ribbon is playing a conspicuous part in the present modes. A suede belt, for instance, is made exceedingly swagger by forming the buckle of ribbon roses.

Some rather eccentric veils are shown edged with fur. Unless the fur is of the same shade as the "beautifier" itself the effect is not becoming.

A quantity of hand stitchery is employed on the newest frocks. So exquisitely combined is this work with lace and chiffon that it is hard to believe any but fairy fingers could produce it.

The spring gown seen in the cut is of nude voile. This material lends itself in the most graceful fashion to the gathered skirts and full bodices now worn. The skirt is gathered about a rounded yoke piped at the joining edge with brown velvet. At the knee are a bouillonne and ruffle of voile. The bodice hangs full from an indented yoke which opens in front surplice fashion. A fold of velvet brings out the exquisite little vest and collar of linen embroidery.

Arizona Kicklets as A Cure For the Blues

AN average of thirty poems, idyls, refrains, etc., reach this office every week from parties living at a distance. While the Kicker publishes a great deal of poetry, it is poetry written at home by local poets. We want no outside contributions in this line. This apparent unjust discrimination is entirely governed by circumstances. When a local poet dashes off something good he or she at once canters down to this office and hands it in for publication. We must either publish it or be shot at. For a year or so we preferred the shooting; but, finding that the noise and excitement unstrung the nerves of the compositors and interfered with getting out job work on time, we finally accepted the poetry. It is no better than outside poetry, but outsiders can't shoot at us.

The boys at Pine Hill sent us word the other day that they had hung our agricultural editor and wanted to know what should be done with the body. We replied that our A. E. was at that very moment sitting in the sanctum of the office and busy with a column article, entitled "Will the Coming Cow Make Use of the Cactus For Fodder?" The boys had made a mistake. We are not quite certain who their victim was, but we suspect he was a naturalist from Chicago who wrote us about four weeks ago that he was headed this way.

M. QUAD.

Her Parting Shot.

He (after the quarrel)—You will miss me when I'm gone.

She—Yes, and I'd probably miss you before you go if I had anything to throw at you.

Adventures of Phrases.

"I Love You" once escaped from out
The dictionary's pages
To seek the opportunity
Awaited through the ages.

With anxious heart he hied him forth
When fortune good beset him;
He hadn't wandered long before
"This Is So Sudden" met him.

Together on the rosy way,
While arm in arm they plodded,
Behind them gay "I Told You So"
With learned wisdom nodded.

PNEUMONIA.

Six Hundred Cases in Pittsburg Since January 1 and Half of Cases Have Been Fatal.

Pittsburg, Feb. 21.—Owing to an epidemic of pneumonia in this city the health authorities have issued a warning. Since New Year's 600 persons have been affected, nearly one-half of this number dying, and yet there is no relief. During the last week out of 170 deaths 70 were due to this disease, and in the six previous weeks there were 194 deaths from the same cause, making 264, or 25 per cent of the deaths of 1905 due to pneumonia.

Engine Went Through Bridge.

Albany, Ga., Feb. 21.—The engine of a regular passenger train on the Central of Georgia railway went through the bridge spanning the Chattahoochee river at Columbia, Ala. Engineer Elijah Pate and Fireman C. A. Dean were killed. It is stated that the baggage and mail car went partly over the chasm made by the falling locomotive and that it is held in place only by the coupling to the second class coach.

Roosevelt Accepts.

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 21.—President C. E. Garner, president of the board of trade, has returned from Washington, where he went to extend an invitation to President Roosevelt to visit Jacksonville. President Roosevelt accepted the invitation in a tour to include Richmond, Atlanta, Montgomery and possibly some other southern cities during his admibistration, but fixing no date for the visit.

Floods Raging.

Swaynesboro, Ga., Feb. 21.—The most disastrous floods that this section has experienced in years are now in full sway. Every bridge on the Ohoopee river in Emanuel and Tattnail counties is gone. The damage is estimated at $200,000. Rain continues to fall.

ADUDDELL-PYLES.

Monday evening at 7 o'clock, John William Aduddell of Senecaville, O., and Miss Hattie R. Pyles of this city, were joined in marriage by Rev. T. W. Lock. The ceremony was performed at the parsonage of the East Main street M. E. church. Mr. and Mrs. Aduddell will make their home in Newark.

POLICE COURT

Frank Pfeffer Fined for Assault—Boblinger is Dismissed—Cases Before Mayor Crilly.

Julius Boblinger, a molder, was brought to the city prison on Monday evening with several gaping scalp wounds, as a result of an assault alleged to have been committed on him by Frank Pfeffer, a molder employed at the Wehrle foundry. The trouble occurred in the West End on Monday afternoon. Boblinger says that he acted as peacemaker in a fight which occurred between Pfeffer and another man on Sunday afternoon, which caused ill feeling on the part of Pfeffer. Boblinger's injuries were attended by Dr. Henry Day. In the police court Tuesday morning Pfeffer, who was arrested by Officers Zergiebel and Carroll, was fined $5 and the costs and Boblinger was dismissed.

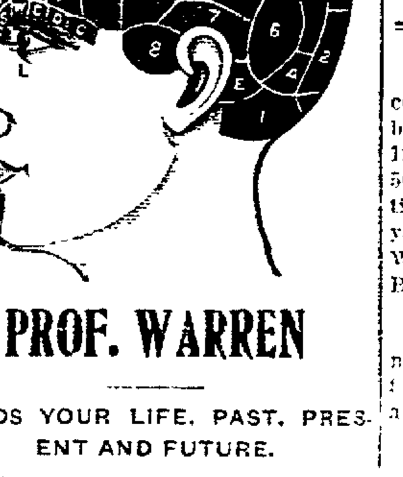

The case of C. W. Batch, charged with being drunk and loitering at the B. and O. depot, was continued until this evening at 7 o'clock.

J. J. Kelley, charged with being drunk and loitering at the B. and O. depot, had his case continued until 7 o'clock this evening.

Carl Smith, arrested by Chief Sheridan for fighting, was fined $5 and costs.

A remarkable scene was enacted in St. Petersburg Monday when the students and professors of the great university of that city met together and decided to close the institution until fall as a protest against the conduct of the government. The authorities were bitterly denounced for the shooting down of the people and for its refusal to grant the needed reforms. At the subsequent gathering of the students in their class rooms it is said the murder of Surgius was openly approved. Such a demonstration ought to help open the eyes of the czar to the situation which confronts him. It is evident that unless he soon takes important steps to allay popular discontent himself and his dynasty will risk annihilation.

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT

Washington Court House Will Provide Many Attractions for Veterans During Stay.

Washington C. H., O., Feb. 21.—Colonel Moulton of Lima, O., department commander of the G. A. R. of Ohio, accompanied by his staff and other prominent Grand Army men from various parts of Ohio, were here yesterday attending to the preliminary work of the state encampment, which is to be held in this city this year.

The committee decided to hold the annual encampment on June 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 next. The National Grand Army Department commander and staff will be present at the encampment on Thursday and Friday, June 8 and 9, and the grand parade will take place on Thursday, June 8.

Colonel Moulton announced that Senator Joseph B. Foraker and Senator Dick will be here.

Governor Herrick and staff will be here, and a number of other prominent men of the state and nation, many of whom will participate in the proceedings of the encampment, camp fires, etc.

Colonel Moulton said that hundreds of the children of the Sailors and Soldiers' Orphans' home at Xenia will be brought here to attend the encampment. The citizens are planning for a grand flower and industrial parade, which will doubtless be held on Wednesday.

Receptions were tendered to the visiting Grand Army leaders yesterday afternoon by the ladies of the Grand Army, and by the newly organized Woman's Relief Corps. Addresses were made and refreshments were served.

SCOTT BROTHERS

Will Retire From Retail Furniture Business March 1—Their Newark Store is Sold.

The well known firm of Scott Bros., composed of Messrs. Walter and Kemper Scott, who have been engaged in the retail furniture business as successors to the late George R. Scott, their father, who established the business some 30 years ago, expect to retire from the retail furniture business shortly and engage in the business of manufacturing furniture.

The Scott Brothers have a deal on hand by which they expect to close out and sell their retail furniture store on South Third street to C. R. Parrish & Co., of Columbus, about the first of March. After that they expect to engage in the business of manufacturing furniture by wholesale in their large factory on East Indiana street, in the East End, where they have been for some time past engaged in manufacturing chairs and rockers. They also expect to do general upholstering of all kinds. They are young men of ability and experience in the business and are familiar with the wants of the trade, and will undoubtedly do a large business.

Mistakes In Sizing Up Modern War.

It is so long since there has been a war comparable in magnitude to that in the far east that mistakes in estimating the proportions in modern war are but natural. T. F. Millard's paper in Scribner's Magazine on the new features of war as he saw it in Manchuria gives the impression that the old terms and ideas applied to battle descriptions have become obsolete. It is inferred by some of Mr. Millard's readers that in previous great wars the battlefield was of limited extent and all under the eyes of the commander; that battles were speedily fought out like duels and any wide distribution of troops was impossible except at the risk of disaster.

Leaving Napoleon's great battles out of account, our civil war may be cited as a war of stupendous proportions. The Seven Days' battles of 1862 began and ended at points over twenty miles apart and all on the same tactical line. The Confederates refer to this series as the battle of Richmond, and that view makes it one field, corresponding in all perhaps but numbers engaged with Liaoyang. At Gettysburg Lee's line of battle was ten miles long, and fighting took place now at one extremity and then at the other and again in the center. The combating lines in the Wilderness were ten miles long, and not alone the army commanders, but the corps and division commanders, could not see the operations of their troops. The Chickamauga battlefield was ten miles long, and at Spottsylvania Court House Grant's line was eight miles long. At Spottsylvania the fighting was continuous from May 5 to May 21 in the same sense that the battle on Sha river was continuous for ten days.

In the sixties there was no telephone, but there were field telegraph lines after 1861, and commanders sent battle orders and received reports in the heat of action over the wires. And surely Mr. Millard's statement that it is "practically impossible to stampede a disciplined army by a dramatic coup on some part of the field, as formerly frequently happened," does not apply to the civil war or any great war of the nineteenth century. There were countless dramatic coups and stampedes in the sixties, but on no field of that time was a disciplined army stampeded by a dramatic coup or even by a succession of coups. Mr. Millard's context shows that he has in mind the stampede of a whole army.

Public Franchise and Public Rights.

What a public franchise is and does are explained in the New York World with a view to showing the status of the owner or operator and the public before the law. The granting of a public franchise is held to be proof that the public is a party to the contract. A franchise gives a monopoly of certain business. It excludes competition. Competition regulates price, but the operator of a franchise is entitled to charge "what is fair and reasonable." Says the World:

> Any private citizen refusing to pay an unfair or unreasonable charge has a good legal defense, and the operator of the franchise cannot refuse to continue the service provided he is secured in the payment of whatever the court decides he is entitled to. This applies to gas, electricity, telephones, railroads and all the like.

The point to be solved is how to determine what constitutes "a fair and reasonable price" in justice to the operator of the franchise and to the private citizen. The public must use the service of the monopoly or go without, and the granting of the franchise is an assumption that it is essential to public welfare. Naturally the rights of the citizen come first in the theory of the law.

The phenomena of dreams, presentiments and the like, which are sometimes ascribed to thought transference and other occult agencies, have been probed by Dr. Herman Swaboda of Vienna. This scientist accounts for the manifestations on the theory that the impressions and events recorded by the brain recur after certain specified intervals—in the case of men after twenty-three days and in the case of women after twenty-eight days. The well known "flying dream," he says, will occur twenty-three or twenty-eight days after the subject has made use of arms and legs in an abnormal manner, as when dancing, skating and bicycling. Presentiments and events foreseen in dreams are the suggestions of impressions recorded in the past.

An expert on the condition of affairs in Macedonia has given a London newspaper correspondent an opinion upon the policy of Europe with regard to Turkish administration. He declares that the troubles complained of do not arise from Turkish misgovernment, but from rival ambitions of the population. He says that when Christians attack Christians the Turk gets the blame. Furthermore, the Bulgars do not want a perfect Turkish rule and are persistent in efforts to embroil the sultan with Europe.

Numerous projects for municipal ownership are on foot in Canada, according to reports sent in from Halifax by United States Consul General Halloway. Kingston reports a financial success in operating an electric lighting plant, and other cities are preparing to establish or take over gas or electric plants.

SCHOOL HOUSE BONDS

Sold to Cleveland Firm---The $25,000 Issue Brings $26,042, The Purchasers Being W. J. Hayes & Co.--- Board Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Board of Education was held on Monday night with Messrs. Beggs, Fulton, Haight, Keckley and Keller present, with President Beggs in the chair.

Bills to the amount of $278.81 were allowed.

On recommendation of the Superintendent the following persons were elected as contingent teachers: Misses Elsie Davis, Grace Davis, Martha G. Lundy and Frances Hipsley.

The Superintendent was instructed to notify all teachers that no one would be elected as regular teacher unless she held a certificate to cover the time for which she is elected, it being contrary to law to elect a teacher for a longer time than the certificate covers.

Hereafter the janitors of all the buildings where gas is used as fuel, will be required to learn to read the metres, and make a daily reading of the same on each school day and report the same to the superintendent once every week.

Bids for the $25,000 school bonds advertised to be sold, opened by the Finance committee, were reported to the board as follows:

E. H. Rollins & Sons, Chicago, $25,751.
B. R. Todd, Cincinnati, $25,751.
S. Kean, Chicago. $25,250.
W. J. Hayes & Sons Cleveland, O., $26,042.

Albert C. Case, New York, $25,208.
Security Savings Bank and Trust Co., Toledo, $25,815.
Dennison, Prior & Co., Cleveland, $25,943.75.
W. J. Hayes & Sons, Cleveland, having submitted the highest bid, $26,042, the same was accepted by the board.

TO THE PEOPLE

EVERYBODY'S MAGAZINE for March with the latest instalment of my story, "Frenzied Finance" is out today.

BUY IT!

In it I begin the main story of the Crimes of Amalgamated.

I take up and handle fittingly, I think, some of the scoundrelly "System's" character thugs—deal with them and—deposit them.

Rogers' Man Friday, Denis Donahoe, and the "Martin Expose" they have concocted I swing through the air once ,twice, then with a mop-the-gutter motion, drop.

I reach once for James H. Eckels, Ex-Controller of the Currency of the United States, the young financial phenomenon, who jigged the big Cleveland bond juggle, now President of the Commercial National Bank of Chicago, and who is steering for the "System" in the West in a split-tongue, mud slinging, after dinner skit "Eckles plays Lawson the stock jobber," which the insurance companies are circulating by the million—I reach for him and I think—get him. Anyway it is for you the people to say.

James M. Beck, Ex-Assistant Attorney General of the United States, valiant "trust-buster" and people's champion, who got such a peep behind the government scenes in the Northern Securities hold-up that he was picked off by Rogers, Rockefeller and "Standard Oil" for legal adviser—I think I get three fingers and a thumb over and under his collar and in a jerk pull and twitch, expose just why James M. Beck is delivering garbage bouquets before college and insurance round-ups in the East, tagged "Beck grills Lawson as a frenzied fakir."

This is the brilliant reformer who came to Boston on the eve of the recent infamous gas trial and was so anxious that I should "match up" my testimony with Rogers. Do you know what "matching up" testimony means?

Other things and people of moment are man-handled and headed for the hospital.

Let me say right here—this number of EVERYBODY'S contains Russell's second chapter on the Beef Trust which it behooves all patriotic Americans to read. If this March number had no "Frenzied Finance" nothing but the Beef Trust story between its covers, I would willingly contribute $15,000 to $20,000 worth of advertising to get it into the hands of the people.

Last month the edition of EVERYBODY'S numbered 900,000—unprecedented in the history of general magazine making an increase of 200,000 over the previous month. Stop and think that this 200,000 increase in itself is much greater than the entire circulation of many of the leading magazines of the country such as "Harper's," "Scribner's," "The Century," and "The Review of Reviews." Still I calculated that ever copy would be sold within three days and that this month's edition should be at least 1,100,000 or 1,200,000. I was mistaken. The West and South stood right up and went ahead as in other months, but the East fell behind. They tell me it was because my instalment was slow and heavy; that there was not enough raw-edged and bloody-boneness about it. Mabye so, but it was the most important chapter I have yet written. It is full of valuable educational material. It was a brain-clearer—absolutely necessary to an understanding of the "System" and the Crimes of Amalgamated. But with the lively chapter in the March issue, and the tremendously hot instalments that are to follow I feel that the halt in the increase (this month's issue is the same as last, 900,000 copies) is but momentary.

Let the American people, as they thumb over this exquisite March number of EVERYBODY'S ponder what Russell's and my work means.

Ireland at the end of a hundred years of tortured struggle for Home Rule, will probably not attain that end befor e another five or ten have passed.

The French were fifty years trying to exchange their royal collar for the ballots of free men.

It took the stalwart strenuous Yankees a decade to convince Royal George that his room was better than his company.

The Russians have been working their bloody kinetoscope night and day in the interest of constitutional government ,and are still at it.

Sixy days after the people had "Frenzied Finance" in their hands, the "Standard Oil" monster was compelled after forty years of silence to publicly doff its insolent bonnet to the people.

Three months after the people got their eyes fixed on the deviltries of the "System" they elected as President a people's champion, with a popular majority greater than ever given any of his predecessors.

Four months after "Frenzied Finance" was introduced in American homes three leading insurance companies were discharging their agents in bunches, and the aggregate business of the three was falling off at the rate of $1,500,000 a week.

After five months, a single blast of truth from one man shook Wall street to its foundations and over $200,000,000 of what the people have been taught to believe was real values ran off into the gutter in the form of dirty water.

In six months, for the first time in the history of our country, the President of the United States was able to take by the throat, the greatest business combinations and trusts the world has ever known, and shake them until their teeth chattered and their back bones rattled like hung dried corn in a fireplace when the wind gets at it.

In seven months the greatest national bank in the country. The City Bank of New York, was being hung up by the heels where all the people could see it in a lower and more contemptible transaction than I had ever accused it of.

In eight months one of the greatest insurance companies of America was rent by internal dissensions and its trustees were gouging and mauling each other in a public brawl as to who saw the people's savings first and who should have the larger part of the loot. Now these trustees of a great and sacred institution are accusing each other of things and hinting at crimes which even I have not touched upon.

And right here, in the beginning of my 5th chapter, Kansas—God Bless her—has risen and is sweeping her end of the "System" into the muddy waters of the Missouri to the tune of "Douse the dirty reptiles—douse!"

The people should ponder these things as they read this month's issue of

Everybody's Magazine

CHIC STYLES.

The New Shade of Brown—Smart Lingerie Headgear.

Spangled black tulle is used for smart evening gowns relieved with a spray of red roses or chrysanthemums and mauve mousseline de soie with wistaria blossoms.

Louis Seize bodices are growing in favor for evening gowns. Their chief features are very sharply pointed fronts. The narrow peak comes down over the skirt in front and cuts up sharply over the hips.

The new spring shade of brown is curiously unlike anything that has appeared throughout this recent brown fad. It is neither bronze nor onion brown, but a rare shade which is very beautiful.

HAT OF WHITE MULL.

All the latest models show short skirts, and most of them have an increased fullness about the hips. There is a conservatism about many of these skirts, on which the stitched down plaits still disport themselves.

Eolienne, broadcloth and silk will be made up for traveling suits and softer finished silks for extra dresses.

Lingerie hats are to be worn again, but lingerie hats that are different in every way from those of last year.

The lingerie hat illustrated is a becoming piece of head adornment carried out in white silk mull. The inner brim is a mass of soft shirrings, and the outer edge is made fluffy with lace trimmed ruffles of the mull. A chic upstanding bow is arranged at one side of the chapeau, and under the tilted brim is another knot of soft satin ribbon.

FORECAST OF FASHION.

Linens Will Be Popular Again For Summer Frocks.

Although winter gowns and wraps will be worn for some time to come, the planning of the spring and summer wardrobe has already begun. Like last summer, it is to be a light season. White will be very much in evidence, with the paler colors rivaling it in favor.

Linens will again be popular in all weaves, from the heaviest to the sheerest and finest of handkerchief variety. Linen suits, linen costumes, everything linen in every conceivable color, with white as a leading note, is to be worn.

GUIPURE LACE WAIST.

There is a lovely shade of corn color in linen which is extremely new and pretty and a delicious violet, while all the pastel shades are as fascinating as ever.

Sleeves on the shirt waist suits are fuller at the top, and when of the strictly tailored sort they have the regulation cuff worn with links or a narrow band neatly buttoned.

The smart little coats of all over linen broderie anglaise will be worn with skirts of plain linen elaborately trimmed with bands of the same embroidery.

Some of the new linens have wafer dots in heavy embroidery scattered over their surface. Dots and rings also appear on many of the new colored linens. For instance, soft, dull blue and green linens have designs of interlacing rings over them at intervals.

The chic waist illustrated is of guipure lace stretched plain over a fitted lining of white silk. Ribbon two inches wide crosses the waist in bretelle fashion and narrows at the waist line into silk covered rings. At the last these ribbons are again looped through the rings. Ribbons and crocheted loops trim the sleeves top and bottom.

FAUST TOMORROW.

The finish or the apotheosis of Porter J. White's version of Faust is decidedly original; in scenic splendor and electric novelty it abounds. But three figures are presented—Mephisto, Marguerite and Faust. Faust would fain persuade Marguerite to escape with him by the aid of Mephistopheles, but in the instinct of her heart she finds an invincible aversion to the fiend; she chooses death and ignominy rather than life and love, if of his giving. At her final refusal Mephistopheles proclaims that "she is judged," a voice from above that "she is saved," the action terminates; Mephistopheles vanishes from our sight, as into boundless space. Wednesday, Feb. 22, matinee and night. Seats are now selling.

PORTER J. WHITE AS "MEPHISTO."

MARY EMERSON.

Dealing as His Majesty and The Maid does with royalty, there is much opportunity for display of all kind, which has been taken advantage of. The first act takes place in the depths of the forest, where Alicia. The Maid, lives with Martha, her foster mother, and Martha's son Michel. The time of year is autumn, the trees are clothed in autumn dress, and the leaves are falling. Here a number of characters are introduced. The second act takes us to the palace, where we meet the characters that go to make up the court. The third act is the scene of the old tavern. The Golden Lion, and one of the strongest acts in the play, although the story of the play is not fully told until the fall of the final curtain on the last act, thereby sustaining the interest to the e nd. The fourth act goes back to the palace. Miss Emerson's success in His Majesty and The Maid has been pronounced, her performance of Alicia, The Maid, being characterized by much charm and a splendid grasp of character. As one of the dramatic reviewers writes: "A young woman possessed of much physical charm, a beautiful voice, and great mentality, showing the thought and study behind her work." Miss Emerson will be seen here on Thursday, Feb. 23, and the attraction promises splendidly.

A CHINESE HONEYMOON.

For one night only the stage of the Auditorium, Friday, March 3, will be transformed to resemble a Chinese theatre. The occasion is the engagement of "A Chinese Honeymoon," presented this time by the New York Casino company, with all the original opulent scenic investiture. In the cast are several of the top-liners in the field of musical comedy, including the eight stunning bridesmaids, and a competent chorus and ballet. The story of "A Chinese Honeymoon" concerns one Samuel Pineapple, who goes to China on a honeymoon with his bride under the somewhat unusual conditions of being accompanied by her eight bridesmaids. The chief use of these bridesmaids apparently is to blow screeching whistles whenever Samuel forgets for the moment that he is a married man. This adds to the general clamor. They also wear wonderful creations in modern costumes in the new and absolutely essential octette specialty. Pineapple meets in China his nephew Tom Hatherton, who is there for the purpose of falling in love with Soo Soo, the Emperor's niece. Fifi, a waitress in the hotel is in love with Tom, but sacrifices herself to make that worthy young man happy. The Emperor has ordered his Lord Chancellor to find him a bride, one of the conditions being that the aspirant for that position shall not know the real rank of her would-be-husband but shall be allowed to think he is a bill poster. Curious complications result through the peculiarities of the Chinese marriage and other laws. Pineapple finds himself married to his niece-that-was-to-be and Hatherton's intended bride becomes his mother-in-law. It may be readily observed therefore, that atmosphere is not entirely forgotten, even to the extent of providing a Chinese puzzle in the disposing of the variously related persons.

THE TWO ORPHANS.

The reason that plays like "The Two Orphans," "Uncle Tom's Cabin," etc., never wear out or the public never tire of them is that they contain deep human interest. They are natural. They appeal not only to the classes but to the masses: whether you pay two dollars or one dollar, you go away equally pleased. "The Two Orphans" with an all star cast, will be seen here in March.

FIELD'S MINSTRELS.

Al G. Field's minstrels filled the Auditorium last night, every seat in the theatre save a half dozen box seats, being sold. The show this season is as gorgeous as ever and the new features as well as the old ones are all good.

LONGFELLOW ENTERTAINMENT.

Forty Newark people will take part in Longfellow's "Hanging of the Crane," which will be given in eight beautiful tableaux with musical accompaniment, at Taylor Hall, February 22 and 23. Miss Goldie McCann will appear as the bride and Mr. Walter Daugherty as groom. The first tableaux will be a wedding scene, the last the golden wedding of the same couple. This latter scene will be one of great interest. The aged grandfather and grandmother will be there to celebrate the event, the up to date widow and the cranky old maid will be there, the critical dude with jaunty air, and the quaintly attired country cousins will be there too, in the persons of well known young people of the city, costumed beyond recognition. Last night's rehearsal for this unique entertainment under the efficient direction of Mrs. Olive Meredith, was eminently satisfactory.

Get SCOTT'S Emulsion

When you go to a drug store and ask for Scott's Emulsion you know what you want; the man knows you ought to have it. Don't be surprised, though, if you are offered something else. Wines, cordials, extracts, etc., of cod liver oil are plentiful but don't imagine you are getting cod liver oil when you take them. Every year for thirty years we've been increasing the sales of Scott's Emulsion. Why? Because it has always been better than any substitute for it.

OHIO MEN

MAKERS OF HISTORY OUT IN NEBRASKA.

Prominent Among Them is John A. Creighton, Who First Saw Light in This County.

It is alike curious and significant that nearly all of the most widely-known men of Omaha, Neb., who formulated the program for and took a conspicuous part in the public celebration there a few months ago of the semi-centennial anniversary of the signing of the Kansas-Nebraska bill by President Franklin Pierce, are former Ohio men.

The celebration, which was one of the most notable and interesting events of its kind in the annals of the West, served incidentally to call public attention to many half-forgotten or never fully recognized historic facts, and it called public attention to none more conspicuously than the important part played by Ohio men in the early settlement and development of Nebraska.

There was a large influx of people from Ohio into Nebraska in the years immediately succeeding the signing of the bill which gave Kansas and Nebraska separate governments, and it may be said that from none of the older states went men who were better equipped mentally and morally to grapple with the civic problems that awaited settlement there or who did more to shape the destiny of the new commonwealth than the men who went from Ohio.

Throughout the state today Ohio men are prominent at the bar, in business, in politics, in the church, and in all the various other spheres of human activity.

John A. Creighton, the millionaire philanthropist of Omaha, who was made a count of the Holy Roman empire by Pope Leo XIII., first saw the light of day in Licking county, Ohio.

An Ohio man, John L. Webster, was president of the second Nebraska constitutional convention, held in 1875.

A man who spent his early manhood in Ohio, General Charles F. Manderson, represented Nebraska in the United States senate for a number of years, and was at one time president pro tem. of that august body.

William F. Munger, at present a United States district judge for Nebraska, is a former Ohio man.

James E. Boyd, formerly governor of Nebraska, at one time lived in Ohio.

Edward Rosewater, editor and publisher of the Omaha Bee, the leading Republican newspaper of Nebraska, years ago, was a citizen of Ohio, and there are many others.

John A. Creighton was born in Licking county, O., Oct. 15, 1831. In 1852 he went to Somerset, Perry county, to attend St. Joseph's college. On his mother's death at Springfield in 1854, he left college, and engaged, with his brother, Edward Creighton, in the construction of a telegraph line between Cleveland and Toledo. Two years later he went to Omaha, where he has since made his home.

The great fortune of the Creighton family was founded by the elder brother, Edward. Though the youngest of the nine brothers, John A. Creighton has added materially to it. For a time after he went to Omaha Mr. Creighton worked as a clerk in a general store. Then he went to Virginia City, Mon., and opened a very profitable store.

When the young man returned to Omaha it was with a comfortable competence. Later he was engaged, with his elder brother, in the construction of a telegraph line from Omaha to the Pacific coast, and in other large enterprises. He is now president of several banks, and a director in many large institutions.

CAR WORKS BURN

Gasoline Explosion Causes Large Damage an the Injury of Three Men in Dayton.

Dayton, O., Feb. 21—The explosion of a workman's gasoline torch in a car caused a big blaze in the Barney & Smith Car works here and three men were seriously burned. The finishing sheds, with six express refrigerator cars and the lumber sheds were destroyed, entailing a loss of about $55,000. The insurance is believed to be less than $20,000. The injured men are: Leonard Collins, finisher, 27 McKinley street; Martin Sell, carpenter, 279 North Alaska street and Alonzo Parker, tinner, 308 South Morton avenue. All will recover.

Lyons & Miller have moved their barber shop from 20 North Side Square to 22 1-2 North Side Square, over Barney Burns' place. They wish to extend thanks for old trade and desire a continuous patronage. 20d12t

NEWARK PEOPLE

Will Go to Coshocton This Evening to See Miss Evelyn Francis in "Polly Primrose."

Coshocton, O., Feb. 21—A number of Newark people are expected here this evening to see Miss Evelyn Francis, a Newark girl, who is now a member of Adelaide Thurston company which will appear here in "Polly Primrose." Miss Francis takes the part of Angela Gordon. She is the daughter of Milo Francis, who was well known among local railroad men being for many years a passenger engineer on the B. & O. It was on August 26, 1901, that he was killed while taking a special train to St. Louis loaded with Knights Templar. The accident occurred at Barnesville, and is still well remembered in railroad circles.

Miss Francis made her debut on the stage this seaon in the farcical play "Who oGes There" and made such a distinct hit, that her beauty and talent caused the manager, Claxton Wilstach, to transfer her to the Adelaide Thurston company in which she is now playing an important role. Miss Francis' mother, sisters and many Newark friends are expected to be present here to see her for the first time on the stage and tender her an informal reception after the play.

COSHOCTON NOTES

Prosecutor Brings Suit Agaist Bridge Company to Recover $37,000—Ball Team Wanted.

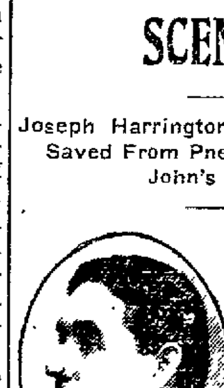

Coshocton, O., Feb. 21—Two suits have been filed in Common Pleas court that will prove of intense interest. The suits are brought by County Prosecutor Glenn against the Canton Bridge company, of Canton, and the Iron Substructure company of Columbus, asking that they be compelled to pay back into the coffers of Coshocton county sums aggregating $37,000, alleged to have been unlawfully drawn from the treasury on bridge contracts.

A new plan is on foot to be worked in connection with the ticket plan to create money to start a baseball team in this city. The plan is to sell 2,000 chances on an automobile at fifty cents per chance, thus raising $1000. This would enable those who do not feel like paying five dollars for a ticket to help support the team as well as give some lucky man an automobile for fifty cents. Meanwhile the selling of the tickets continues and the prospects for a team are slowly growing brighter, butsome tall hustling will be necessary.

Joseph Harrington of New York City Saved From Pneumonia by Father John's Medicine.

Some time ago I was attacked with a severe cold and cough which nothing seemed to relieve. It grew steadily worse until I was told that my trouble was likely to develop into pneumonia. A neighbor who had used Father John's Medicine with very satisfactory results brought me part of a bottle and advised me to try it. I did so and within a short time I could see that it was helping me. I continued to use it until I was entirely cured. My wife has used the medicine for throat and lung trouble with excellent results and so have many of my friends to whom we have recommended it. (Signed) Joe Harrington, 202 West 23d St. New York.

Father John's Medicine prevents Pneumonia and Consumption and cures all Throat and Lung Troubles. No alcohol or poisonous drugs. Cures colds or money back.

MRS. MARY MONROE

A FORMER NEWARK WOMAN HAS BEEN HONORED.

Appointed to Important Work in Far Off Spokane—Makes Record as a Teacher.

A recent copy of the Spokesman-Review of Spokane, Wash., contains an account of an honor done Mrs. Mary A. Monroe, a former Newark lady who for some years has been principal of the Lincoln School at Spokane. Mrs. Monroe has been appointed by the Executive committee of the Washington State Educational Association to the chairmanship of the graded school section of the Association's work. As such chairman she prepared the program for the graded school section work of the recent state convention, and the position gives her great prominence in the educational work of the state.

Mrs. Monroe is a daughter of the late John Simpson of this city, and was born and educated in Newark. With her husband, William Allison Monroe, she went to Spokane about 11 years ago, and at once assumed an important part in the public school work of the city. She had had considerable experience in the same work as a teacher in Newark, being greatly valued by the late Superintendent J. C Hartzler. Mr. Monroe has been principal of the East Newark school He is now supply agent for a prominent railroad construction company in Spokane.

The Spokesman-Review's account also contains a reference to Miss Sara Weisman, who led the discussion at the convention upon "Possibilities in the Teaching of Civics." Miss Weisman was a Perry county girl, and later a teacher in Marion. She is well known in Newark. She has had a very successful career in Spokane, first as teacher and now as principal of the Field school.

Health of American Women

A Subject Much Discussed at Women's Clubs—The Future of a Country Depends on the Health of Its Women.

At the New York State Assembly of Mothers, a prominent New York doctor told the 500 women present that healthy American women were so rare as to be almost extinct.

This seems to be a sweeping statement of the condition of American women. Yet how many do you know who are perfectly well and do not have some trouble arising from a derangement of the female organism which manifests itself in headaches, backaches, nervousness, that bearing-down feeling, painful or irregular menstruation, leucorrhœa, displacement of the uterus, ovarian trouble, indigestion or sleeplessness? There is a tried and true remedy for all these ailments. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored more American women to health than all other remedies in the world. It regulates, strengthens and cures diseases of the female organism as nothing else can. For thirty years it has been curing the worst forms of female complaints.

Such testimony as the following should be convincing.

Mrs. T. C. Willadsen, of Manning, Ia., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I can truly say that you have saved my life and I cannot express my gratitude to you in words. For two years I spent lots of money in doctoring without any benefit for menstrual irregularities and I had given up all hopes of ever being well again, but I was persuaded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and three bottles have restored me to perfect health. Had it not been for you I would have been in my grave to-day."

Miss Mattie Henry, Vice-President of Danville Art Club, 429 Green Street, Danville, Va., writes:

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Many years' suffering with female weakness, inflammation and a broken down system made me more anxious to die than to live, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored my health and I am so grateful for it that I want every suffering woman to know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will do for her."

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating, (or flatulency), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. No other medicine in the world has received such unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

A light heart, a cheerful countenance, and all the charms of grace and beauty are dependent upon proper action of the bodily organs. You cannot look well unless you feel well.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice and medicine have restored thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

TO PRESIDENT

Kansas Senate Wants Foster Lease Annulled.

STANDARD OIL INVESTIGATION

Mr. W. R. Hearst Introduces a Bill Making the Pipe Lines Common Carriers.

Topeka, Kas., Feb. 21.—The senate adopted a resolution calling upon the president, the secretary of the interior and the congress of the United States to hold up and annul the "Foster lease" of the Osage Indian reservation, which the secretary of the interior has declared was obtained by fraud.

The investigation of the Standard Oil company's methods in Kansas, which the president has directed Commissioner Garfield to make, while much desired in Kansas, is regarded here as a minor question in comparison with the movement to annul the Foster lease. Once secure in its renewal of this lease, the Standard would, some of the Kansas legislators declare, be independent of all other production, and the thousands of dollars which have been invested in the Kansas and Indian Territory fields by individuals would be wasted and destroyed.

Frank G. Prouty, a member of the lower house of the Oklahoma legislature, was in Topeka to learn what he could do about oil legislation. He was in conference with representatives of the Kansas Oil Producers' association, and will carry back with him to Oklahoma copies of the laws which Kansas has passed in its fight on the Standard Oil company. These bills will, it is said, be introduced in the territorial legislature this week, and an attempt will be made to rush them through at once.

The house has deferred its consideration of the anti-discrimination bill until next Friday. It will be made a special order for that date, and will be pushed through as rapidly as possible. The Holdren bill, prohibiting the pumping of gas, will be considered by the senate this week. It is conceded that these bills will pass, and this will end the battle for the oil producers so far as legislation is concerned. Some action will be taken regarding further investigation of the Standard in this state. It is likely that Kansas will make an independent investigation in addition to the one promised by the government. If a state investigation committee is appointed attention will be given to the charge that the Sante Fe railway is interested with the Standard in working against the Kansas oil producers.

President's Assurance.

Washington Feb. 21. — President Roosevelt assured Representative Campbell of Kansas, that all of the power of his administration necessary would be used in the investigation he is undertaking through the bureau of corporations into the affairs of the Standard Oil company, to the end that the small producer, dealer and consumer alike shall have fair treatment, and that at the same time no injustice shall be done.

WASHINGTON NEWS

Provides For Two Battleships.

Washington, Feb. 21.—The house passed the naval appropriation bill, carrying a total of $99,914,359. The provision for two battleships, as reported by the committee on naval affairs, was retained. Both the majority and minority were badly divided over the proposition, at least 40 members of the latter going over to the Republicans, while about an equal number of Republicans voted in opposition. Several important changes in the bill were made. The proposed increase of 1,200 men and officers for the marine corps was stricken out, as was also the provision authorizing the construction of a collier somewhere else than at the Mare Island navy yard in California. In order to do the work better an item for $175,000 was inserted for the proper equipment of the Mare island yard.

Vanderbilt Recovers Tax.

Washington, Feb. 21.—The supreme court of the United States decided that William K. Vanderbilt may recover money paid into the treasury of the United States as an inheritance tax, under the war revenue act of 1898, by William K. Vanderbilt as executor for Alfred G. Vanderbilt. The money paid under protest amounted to $541,000. The court hold that payment could not be exacted until the beneficiary of the inheritance came into possession of his property.

Indian Appropriation Bill.

Washington, Feb. 21—The Indian appropriation bill as agreed upon by the committee on Indian affairs, and reported to the senate, contains the folowing amendment offered by Senator Bard of California: "That no portion of the funds appropriated by this act, nor the principal nor interest of any Indian trust or tribal funds held by the United States for the benefit of any Indian tribe shall be available nor be expended for the support of any sectarian or denominational school."

University of the United States.

Washington, Feb. 21.—Senator Frye introduced in the senate a bill for the establishment of the University of the United States. It provides for the use of the grounds designated by President Washington as university square and for the service of the president of the United States, the chief justice of the supreme court and the commissioner of labor on board of regents. The bill is similar to one which has been introduced in congress in several previous sessions.

Kansas Anti-Trust Law Valid.

Washington, Feb. 21.—The validity of the Kansas anti-trust law was upheld by the supreme court of the United States in an opinion by Justice Brewer in the case of Edmund J. Smiley, plaintiff in error, versus the state of Kansas. Smiley in 1900 was secretary of the State Grain Dealers' association, and the allegation in this case was that he organized the wheat dealers in the town of Bison, Rush county, into a trust to control the price of wheat at that place. The supreme court of the state sustained the prosecution against him and Justice Brewer's opinion upholds that verdict.

CHEER UP!

Why Worry About Indigestion When Pepsikola Will Give You Relief.

"Why any one should worry about indigestion," said the head clerk in Wiles-Erman's drug store, "is hard for us to understand.

"We havebeen selling Pepsikola for several months now and in all our experience we never knew a remedy to give such universal satisfaction.

"We know four or five chronic old dyspeptics on the verge of despair for years who today are cheerful and happy all because of the beneficial effects of a little chocolate coated tablet taken after each meal.

"If people only realized what a wonderful remedy it is and how much good it has done right in this very town they would not doubt or hesitate another minute.' Words can not express the great good it has done in Newark, and Pepsikola must be a remedy of more than unusual merit for if Wiles-Erman Drug Co. had to refund the money to very many dissatisfied customers they would certainly discontinue selling it on their own personal guarantee. Ask yourself if this is not true.

If you are thin, nervous, worried and in low spirits just cheer up and try a 25 cent box of Pepsikola on the druggist's say so and if it fails to give you new nerve force, new ambition and new energy you can get back your money without any question or argument tt-tf

IMPORTANT ARREST.

Man and Woman Believed to be the People Who Stole a $6000 Brooch Saturday.

New York, Feb. 21.—John Murphy was arrested with a woman known as his wife, and the police say they believe they have the man who held up Mr. and Mrs John W. Cornish in the Bronx last Saturday morning, stole a $6,000 diamond brooch from Mrs. Cornish and escaped after firing several shots at Cornish and a policeman who attempted to capture him. In the flat in which Murphy and the woman were arrested the police found many burglar tools a bunch of skeleton keys, a melting pot and several boxes and trunks containing new clothing and women's hats. The couple were held in $2,000 bail.

NEWS OF OHIO

Jesse Varnes Sent to Prison For Seven Years.

BIG SENSATION EXPECTED.

Corporal Clark's Mother Found Dead Today at Warren---Ohio State Happenings.

Fremont, O., Feb. 21—Judge Buckland this morning sentenced Jesse Varnes to seven years in the penitentiary for the theft of a trunk containing jewelry valued a $7,000 owned by a Cincinnati firm from the Lake Shore depot, this city. Following the conviction last December Varnes escaped, but was captured last week at Beaver Falls, Pa. He made a confession to the officers implicating prominent persons and telling where the jewelry was hidden. Sensational developments and further arrests are expected.

Found Dead in Bed.

Warren, O., Feb. 21—Mrs. John A. Clark aged 42, was found dead in bed by her husband this morning. She was the mother of Corporal Charles Clark, the young Warren guardsamn who was killed by the regulars at the Athens encampment during the riot last August. She had grieved over his death.

Accommodation Train Wrecked.

Dayton, O., Feb. 21.—Twelve persons were injured, none seriously, in a wreck near Swanders, 40 miles north of Dayton, on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad. The train wrecked was No. 8, an accommodation, northbound between Dayton and Toledo. Two coaches left the rails and were overturned. The injured: S. C. Henbron, Lima, O.; S. M. Becker, Ottawa, O.; R. S. Cox, Burnet house, Cincinnati; J. S. Rice, Sidney, O.; P. O. Monfort, Lebanon, O.; Lida McCampbell, Louisville, Ky.; D. C. Dunn, Lima, O; A. P. Zeitzger, Indianapolis, Ind.; W. H. Bates, St. Louis, Mo.; G. J. Johnston, Wapakoneta, O.; Jennie Stemple, Ada, O. The speed of the train at the time of the accident, which is attributed to spreading rails, was about 35 miles an hour. The engine and baggage car went safely over the defect, but the smoker and ladies' coach left the rails. The overturned coaches are not badly wrecked.

Mayor Johnson's Charges.

Cleveland, Feb. 21.—In the city council Mayor Tom L. Johnson directly charged Councilmen Dewar and Wilke, Democrats, with having accepted bribes from the Cleveland Electric Illuminating company. At the same time Mayor Johnson charged that the votes of all the Republican members of the city council had been influenced by contributions from that company to the last campaign fund of the Republican organization and to the campaign expenses of the Republican candidates for city council. The charges are the outcome of Mayor Johnson's allegation of two weeks ago that the recent defeat of the ordinance to annex the village of South Brooklyn to the city of Cleveland had been brought about by undue influence. The council immediately adopted a resolution to investigate itself, and City Solicitor Newton D. Baker, a Democrat, was appointed prosecutor of the investigation.

Dayton Man Took Acid.

Dayton, O., Feb. 21.—John Kist, a former city councilman, ended his life with carbolic acid. Recently Kist interfered with a game warden who was roughly handling a boy and received a severe beating at the hands of the officer. The warden was fined for the assault, but brooding over the affair is supposed to have caused Kist's suicide.

O'Neill Gets Life.

Columbus, O., Feb. 21.—James O'Neill who killed his wife Christmas morning, was found guilty of murder in second degree and sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary. O'Neill was tried without a jury, he having plead guilty when arraigned. Judge Dillon heard the testimony and gave his decision without delay.

Octogenarian's Suicide.

Lima, O., Feb. 21.—Tired of life, David Witofski, 81, of Bluffton, this county, took binder twine, tied a noose and hanged himself to his bed post.

DEATH KNELL

Of Railroad Rate Legislation Was Sounded in Senate Today by Mr. Elkins.

Washington, Feb. 21.—The death knell of the railroad rate legislation in the Senate for this session was sounded today when Senator Elkins, chairman of the committee on interstate comerce, speaking on the floor of the Senate, practically gave formal notice that all efforts to secure such legislation had been abandoned and that it was the intention of the committee to continue its inquiry during the summer

OBITUARY

MRS. MARTHA WRIGHT

Remains Left Los Angeles Monday Evening and Will Arrive in Newark Sometime Friday.

The Santa Fe train carrying the remains of the late Mrs. Martha Wright, who died so suddenly in Los Angeles, Cal., left that city Monday night. By the usual rate of travel, if no delays occur by reason of the weather or other causes, the remains will probably arrive here some time on Friday. Notice of the funeral services will be given in the Advocate as soon as they can be definitely given.

Mr. F. S. Wright telegraphed his wife asking her to remain at Los Angeles. The party arrived in California the day before Mrs. Martha Wright was stricken.

MRS. LAYTON

Who Died Recently at Gallipolis, Formerly Lived at Jacksontown, this County.

The Gallipolis, O., Journal published the following notice of the death of Mrs. Layton on Feb. 11, which has been announced briefly in this paper:

Lucinda Prentice Herrick was born Sept. 13, 1829, at Merino Castle near Zanesville. In 1836 she moved with her mother and step-father James Reynolds to Reynoldsburg, where she lived until she was married to George Gray. Four children were born to this marriage, three sons and one daughter. The daughter, Mrs E. S. Gatch of Washington, D. C., survives. Mr. Gray died March 28, 1858.

On January 17, 1865, she was married to Francis M. Layton and with him lived in Jacksontown, O., until her husband's death, Jan. 5, 1904. One son, S. H. Layton, superintendent of the Gallipolis schools, was born to this marriage.

Last June Mrs. Layton fell and broke her limb and from this shock she never recovered. All that medical skill could do was done, but to no avail. After a lingering illness she passed away at 5 p. m. Feb. 11, 1905.

Mrs. Layton was a woman of rare gentleness and simplicity of life. She believed in home, and it was her constant aim and study to increase its happiness. It mattered not what may be the discouragements, she was always cheerful and hopeful. During her long illness she suffered much but she bore it without a murmur. Early in life she had formed the habit of looking on the bright side, and thus her presence proved a constant blessing.

Mrs. Layton had convictions and she had the courage to maintain her convictions. She took a lively interest in everything about her and did what she could to make the community in which she lived better.

Early in life she became a Christian. Her Christian life was quiet and deep. Her life was a constant reminder of the transforming and sustaining power of faith and trust in God. She knew in whom she trusted and knew that all would be well. As death came nearer she talked calmly with her son of the transition. Death had no fears for her. Her faith and trust had conquered She was ready for the change. Thanks be to God who giveth us the victory over death.

Public is Aroused.

The public is aroused to a knowledge of the curative merits of that great medicinal tonic, Electric Bitters for sick stomach, liver and kidneys. Mary H. Walters, of 546 St. Clair ave., Columbus, O., writes: "For several months, I was given up to die. I had fever and ague, my nerves were wrecked; I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak, from useless doctors' drugs, that I could not eat. Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters, I obtained relief, and in a short time I was entirely cured." Guaranteed at Hall's Drug Store; price 50c.

ANTI-SPITTING LAW.

Rigid Enforcement of the Ordinance Leads to Over 50 Arrests in the City of Chicago.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—Rigid enforcement of Chicago's anti-spitting ordinances, which renders those who expectorate on the sidewalks, in public conveyances or in public places liable to arrest and fine, led to more than 50 arrests in the retail business district. Among those arrested were several business men from other cities. Business men, clerks, workingmen and messenger boys hurrying along were halted, placed under arrest and locked in jail. Many were dumbfounded at being so quickly taken from work or leisure and confined in a cell. Others expressed indignation.

THOS. W. LAWSON

Wants to Meet Orator Beck in Discussion of Standard Oil and the "System."

Boston, Feb. 21—Thomas W. Lawson has issued an open letter to James M. Beck, of New York, whom he terms "Chief orator for the Standard Oil company and the 'System,'" for a public debate on "The Crimes and Cowardly Villainies" of his employers, to take place in Fanuell hall.

Mr. Lawson says that Mr. Beck in the east and James H. Eckels in the west have been selected to "sling mud" at him at public banquets.

Mr. Beck is to speak in Boston tonight and Mr. Lawson expects another broadside. He says the international league of Press clubs is trying to raise $50,000 for a home. Lawson offers to give the fund $5,000 if Beck will debate with him on the Standard Oil company within ten days. Lawson says he has never spoken in public, but he is not afraid to meet Beck, the orator.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY

Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

RAILWAY RUMBLES

NEWMAN ELECTED TO SUCCEED M. E. INGALS.

Supreme Court Reverses Verdict in L. & N. Case—Local and General Railway News.

Cincinnati, Feb. 21.—W. H. Newman, head of the Vanderbilt railroad interests, was elected president of the Cincinnati and Springfield railroad, a tributary line of the Big Four system to succeed M. E. Ingalls. This is a part of the plan to bring the various lines of the Big Four road under Mr. Newman's personal care. E. F. Osborn was elected vice president, J. C. Davis secretary, and F. D. Comstock treasurer. The last three officers hold over from last year.

Verdict Reversed.

Washington, Feb. 21.—The supreme court of the United States reversed the verdict of the circuit court of the United States for the eastern district of Kentucky in the case of Coulter and others against the Louisville and Nashville Railroad company. The opinion was by Justice Holmes, who said that the circuit court should not have taken cognizance of the case. The proceeding was instituted by the railroad to compel an equalization of taxation, the allegation being made that while all other property in the state is undervalued, that of the railway company is taxed at its full value. The circuit court granted an injunction as prayed. The effect of the supreme court's decision is to annul that action.

Opposed by Railroads.

Guthrie, Okla., Feb. 21.—The Maxwell bill, creating a board of railway commissioners, was passed by the lower house of the legislature by decisive vote of 20 to 3. It is a combination of the Kansas and Texas railway commission laws and was opposed by the railroads. It is almost certain the measure will pass the upper house. The bill provides for two commissioners, with the governor as an ex-officio member, an auditor, a secretary, a clerk and a stenographer, carrying salaries aggregating $11,700.

Pennsy to Spend Millions.

The Pennsylvania railroad company will this year buy new equipment costing not less than $23,000,000, and if the entire program is carried out as arranged, the cost will be $27,000,00. Decision was reached in New York last week to order 2,000 additional freight cars, to be divided between the Pennsylvania railroad and the Western lines. Already contracts have been placed for 12,3000 cars, so that with the present order, 15,300 cars will have been ordered by the Pennsylvania for delivery this year. These cars will cost about $1,000 each, or $15,300,000 in the aggregate. Contracts have been placed with outside builders for 370 locomotives. The company has arranged to build 150 locomotives at its Juniata shops. Beyond this, arrangements have been made for such part of 200 more locomotives as may be needed later, while about fifty more can be built in the Juniata shops. Thus the complete schedule contemplates 770 new locomotives, which at $15,000 each would cost $11,550,000.

HOW CLEVELAND KEEPS HER STREETS WASHED CLEAN.

With seventeen street flushing machines in daily use, the streets of Cleveland will be cleaner next summer than ever before. A practical demonstration of the advantages of that kind of street cleaning was made last year with seven machines, and ten additional ones will be purchased soon, says the Cleveland Leader.

Almost nothing in the way of street cleaning has been done for weeks past, but plans have been perfected for a strenuous campaign against dirt in the spring. Men who formerly were employed on down town streets, will be transferred to the residence districts, and a general improvement in the appearance of the city's thoroughfares is predicted.

Crowds of Russian refugees now wander about London, homeless, penniless and indescribably filthy, while a large number of them are suffering from contagious eye and skin diseases.

Bands of robbers succeeded in stealing a quantity of valuable gold quartz from a mine at Bendigo, New South Wales, though they had to climb 7,000 feet of ladders to accomplish the theft.

Mothers! Retain Your Youthful Figures.

To be beautiful is to be loved by all. If there lives the woman who is indifferent to this she is yet to be heard of. Yet from time immemorial society has recognized what they thought to be a detriment in the way of such a realization. The bearing of children has meant to them the marring of physical beauty of figure, without which beauty of face would be of little account. Nothing could be more remote from truth than this; childbirth is purely a natural phenomenon, accompanied by pain, to be sure, but if properly managed no more harmful in its effects upon the human form divine than any other natural function.

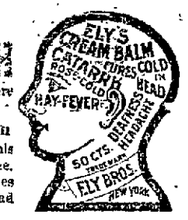

MOTHER'S FRIEND

is essential in the proper management of every case of labor; it relaxes and softens the abdominal muscles, thereby enabling them to sustain the stretching that they must undergo, and from this very fact it facilitates their return to normal proportions after childbirth, and it is obvious that pain must be greatly lessened from this very reason.

It is a liniment, it is harmless, it is potent, it is priceless in its results, it is Mother's Friend. $1.00 per bottle at drug stores. Our book of priceless value sent free to all women.

Bowser Is a Hunter

Gets a Gun and Starts Out to Bag Rabbits—His Wife Strongly Objects and Reminds Him He Knows Nothing About Firearms, Which Rouses His Indignation.

[Copyright, 1905, by T. C. McClure.]

HALF an hour after the Bowsers had finished dinner the other evening a messenger handed a package in at the front door, and as Mrs. Bowser received it she called to Mr. Bowser in the sitting room:

"You had better run after the boy and tell him he has made a mistake. This package can't be for us."

"That package is all right," he answered as he came out into the hall. "It's from my friend Taylor, and I was expecting it."

"But it looks to me like a gun case."

"And so it is."

"And what on earth do you want with a gun? You have got at least four old revolvers around the house, not one of which you would dare fire off, and now somebody has made you believe you ought to have a gun. I suppose the next thing will be a quick firing cannon."

"Don't excite yourself unnecessarily, my dear," said Mr. Bowser as he unstrapped the case and brought the gun out. "I have been planning for three or four days past to take a day off and go gunning. Farmers say that rabbits are thicker this winter than ever before, and tomorrow I shall drop out into the country and knock a few of them over. Do you think you can show cook how to make a rabbit pie?"

"I presume I could if she had the rabbits."

"Don't you worry about the rabbits. I'll bring home enough to make pies for the whole neighborhood. Taylor was out the other day and killed fifty-one. I ought to do as well or better."

"And you are going to spend a whole day tramping around in the snow and wet in hopes to kill a rabbit?"

"I am going out for a day's recreation, same as hundreds of other men do. I am not going to look for one little rabbit, but for a hundred big ones. I may knock over a dozen quails and partridges before I am through. I fail to see where you can find any fault."

"But you are no hunter. As a matter of fact, you have not fired a gun three times in your life. If you fired at a rabbit you would be as apt to hit one of your own feet."

"What!" shouted Mr. Bowser in tones so loud that he jumped the cat two feet high, although she was out on the back fence. "Woman, do you mean to insult me?"

"Of course not, but you know it's the truth. If you were going out to hunt rabbits with a club I wouldn't say a word, but if"—

"That will do, madam—that will do. We need not discuss the subject further."

"I am glad you have given up the idea. You must know yourself what a dangerous thing a gun is in the hands of an inexperienced person."

"What! What! I give up the idea! By the seven great horn spoons, Mrs. Bowser, but you seem to be trying to provoke me to murder! Do you know who I am?"

"I think I have met you before."

"Then you know that when I set out to hunt rabbits not all the sarcasm and lying and deceit and fault finding in the world can change my determination. I set out tomorrow morning to hunt the hopping hare. I shall find him—scores of him. I will bring him home and convert him into pies—thousands of pies. I will sit down and feast on those pies all the rest of the winter, and if you dare to touch one single mouthful of them I'll divorce you within fifteen minutes!"

Mrs. Bowser had no more to say. She had simply meant to discourage him instead of bringing on a row, and she secretly wished she had been more politic. Mr. Bowser walked up and down with heaving chest for a time and then returned to his gun and cartridges. He had no experience with shotguns, and he had never killed a rabbit, but he did not regard that as a handicap. When the silence had lasted a quarter of an hour Mrs. Bowser broke it by asking if the Japs had taken Port Arthur yet.

"I have nothing to do with the Japs or Port Arthur," was the stiff reply.

"Why should there be more rabbits this year than last?"

"The rabbit question has been dropped."

"But I wish you wouldn't be angry with me. Of course I'm only a woman and don't know about such things, but when you spoke of going hunting it did seem to me that—that"—

"It seemed to you what, madam?"

"That a man—a person—who had never fired a gun"—

"Madam!"

"I mean a person who—who"—

"Stop right there, or I will not answer for results!"

Poor Mrs. Bowser was putting her foot into it deeper and deeper, and she shut her lips for good. Only a few words passed from that hour to bedtime, and when she awoke in the morning Mr. Bowser was all dressed. He had dreamed of rabbits all night. He had seen them by the thousand. They had come in droves and begged him to turn them into rabbit pie, and he had loaded a freight car with their frozen bodies. There was little conversation over breakfast, and as soon as it was dispatched he shouldered his gun and started off. Mrs. Bowser and the cat watched him from the front steps, but he never took a backward look as long as he was in sight.

"Is that a goon he has on his shoulder, ma'am?" asked the cook ten minutes later.

"Yes."

"Then you may get your mourning bonnet ready and begin to feel how it feels to be a widdy!"

A street car line took Mr. Bowser out among the farmers. Only one unpleasant incident happened en route. A small boy and his father were on the car, and, after looking at Mr. Bowser for a long time, the small boy queried:

"Father, is that a Nimrod?"

"It may be a Nimrod, my son, or it may be a durned fool—it's hard to tell!"

Half a mile beyond the terminus of the car line the hunter turned into the fields, and his heart was instantly rejoiced. There were tracks in the snow—thousands of tracks—and it seemed to him as if all the rabbits in the country had been playing in that locality. Finding a rabbit track and finding the rabbit who made it are two different things, however, as Mr. Bowser soon came to know.

He peered into hollow stumps and behind them, he looked up into tree tops and down into hollows, he trailed the hopping hare to right and left and held his gun ready to shoot, but he walked miles, and hours went by, and the main ingredient for that rabbit pie was still lacking.

Now and then he encountered a farmer and asked him where the lair of the elusive hare could be found, but no two answered him alike. Some told him to keep right on for five miles farther and then turn to the left and go on for four miles, and some said that there was no idiot asylum within a distance of fifteen miles.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon, as Mrs. Bowser was planning a good dinner for her absent Nimrod, a farmer looking man rang the doorbell, and she admitted him.

"Is this Mrs. Bowser?" he asked.

"It is."

"Is your husband short and stout and baldheaded?"

"Yes."

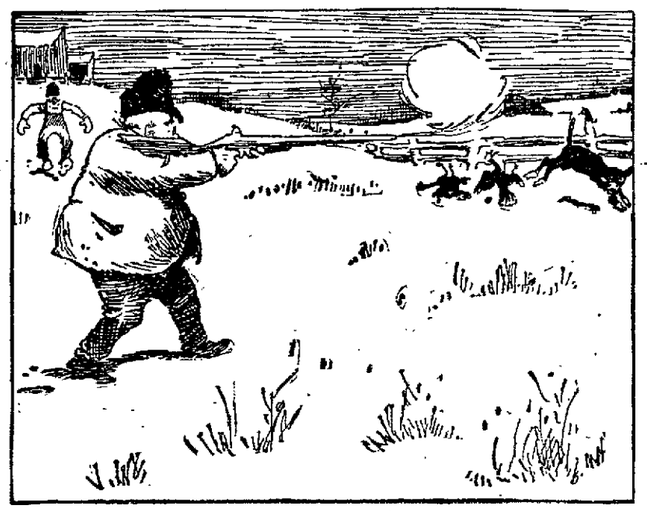

"And did he go out into the country today to shoot rabbits?"

"He did."

"Well, mum, I've got something to tell you. He came along to my place looking for the hopping hare, as he called it, and he blazed away at a chipmunk on the fence and killed two turkeys and wounded a calf, and a constable is holding him in the barn until he shall pay $15 damages. He didn't have but $5 with him, and I'm here to see if you want to pay the balance and let him come."

Mrs. Bowser sent the ransom and waited. Five hours later as she sat in the sitting room the front door softly opened and closed, and ghostly footsteps ascended the stairs. A ghostly man sat down hard on a chair in the family bedroom, and a ghostly grunt of relief came floating down to her ears. She could have gone up to investigate or she could have called from the foot of the stairs, but she did neither. She put on her hat and went over to a neighbor's for an hour to give Mr. Bowser a chance to get a bite to eat and get to bed.

THEIR WEDDING CARD

[Original.]

"I once had a case," said the constable, "that was unique. I was called upon to arrest Frank Hickox, a steeplejack."

The listeners laughed and declared that the finish of the story was plain enough. The steeplejack climbed a spire and thus avoided arrest.

"Not at all," the constable proceeded. "Anthony Carver, a small merchant, had missed articles from his store and purported to have found some of them in Hickox's room. He had sworn out the warrant on which I was to make the arrest. Before I could get my fingers on the young man he had either left the place or gone into hiding. I had a conference with Carver, who was very bitter against the steeplejack. He admitted that the young man had often been at his house and had accepted of his hospitality. Carver gave that as a reason for his having turned so mercilessly against Hickox. Indeed he offered me $100 in case I succeeded in making the arrest.

I hunted the town high and low, but if the steeplejack was in it I couldn't find out where he was concealed. The next day I heard of him in Fairmount and, telegraphing the police to hold him, took a train to go there. When I reached the place the police reported that they had been too late, but had information that Hickox had taken a train for the junction, ten miles distant. I went there, but he had gone on. After spending a day following him from one point to another without getting any nearer to him I suspected his pals were misleading me. I returned to my starting point, called on Mr. Carver and reported my ill success. His daughter, a young woman of twenty-one, was in the room at the time. She listened to my account somewhat contemptuously and when I got through said snappishly:

"I saw him in Buckthorne yesterday."

"You? Saw him? How did that happen?"

"I went over there to visit a friend."

I looked at the girl's father inquiringly, but he made no comment on his daughter's information.

"Why didn't you call a policeman," I asked, "and have the fellow held?"

"In the first place, there was no policeman about, and, in the second, I wouldn't know what rights I have in such a case." And, turning on her heel, she whisked out of the room.

Had it not been for the reward offered I would have given up the job. It seemed to me that the members of the family had some grudge against the steeplejack and wished to get him in limbo. However, a hundred dollars was not to be made every day, and early the next morning I went over to Buckthorne. I had telephoned the police of that town among others to keep a sharp lookout for my man and on arriving went to the police office to score them for not getting him. They had kept watch of incoming and outgoing trains and were sure the accused had not either arrived or departed. Since they were especially sure that he had not departed I remained in the town all day, expecting that he was there and would show himself. But he didn't, and that night I went back home discouraged. I arrived after midnight, when the town was asleep. Happening to cast my eye up at the spire of St. Mark's church, near my home, I thought I saw something white at the very apex. I was a good deal puzzled, for I had never seen anything up there before—indeed, nobody had been there, so far as I knew, since the church was built. I was so interested that for the time being I forgot my ill success in arresting Hickox. However, since it was too dark for me to make out the curious thing, there was nothing for me to do but wait for daylight, so I went home and to bed.

The next morning on going to the window I noticed a knot of people standing opposite the church. They were all peering up at the spire, some of them with field glasses. I saw a man lower his glass and laugh. He handed it to another, who looked up and also laughed. Some appeared to be astonished and serious, but nearly every one laughed. Burning to get at a solution of the mystery, I dressed hurriedly and, seizing a field glass, ran downstairs and across to where I could see the church. There, lashed to the very summit of the spire, was an oblong, white, signlike looking thing swaying in the wind. There were letters on it, and, raising my field glass, I read:

MARRIED, JUNE 7,
FRANK PARSONS HICKOX
AND CYNTHIA ISABEL CARVER.

For a few moments ideas were tumbling about in my head like dice in a box. Then the revelation came to me, and it turned out to be the truth. Hickox and Carver's daughter were lovers. Carver, objecting to the match, had accused Hickox of theft and placed or caused to be placed articles from his store in the young man's room. Hickox had kept out of the way (he had probably been bidden by Miss Carver) till they could arrange for a clandestine marriage. She had sent me to Buckthorne on a fool's errand the day before (June 7, with that end in view.

I did not call on Mr. Carver again, but sent him a bill for the time I had spent on his case. He remitted the amount, with $100 added.

As for the wedding card which Hickox had placed on the church spire, it fluttered there a week before Mr. Carver could hire a steeplejack to go up and get it down. His son-in-law finally did the job.

MASSACRES

Accompanied by Destruction Of Much Property in Caucassus.

(Bulletin.)

London, Feb. 21.—The Exchange Telegraph company's St. Petersburg correspondent today wires that private advices received in the Russian capital report a state of anarchy prevalent in Caucassus. Massacres are occurring on all sides. Oil wells are ablaze. Trains are being destroyed, and river navigation stopped. The authorities are inefficient and indolent.

BOSTON BLAZE

Piers, Vessels, Cargo Damaged This Morning With Heavy Loss.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 21—In an extensive and disastrous fire Piers 3 and 4 of the Hoosic tunnel docks were totally destroyed, the steamships Dalton Hall and Philadelphia badly damaged, and hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of freight on the piers an cargo i nthe vessels wiped out early this morning. The fire started in Pier 4 in some hay. Theflames spread like a prairie fire. With great difficulty the crews of the vessels were saved. The loss is estimated at $1,500,000.

ASSASSIN'S IDENTITY

Has Not Been Ascertained Though the Police are Sure That He is Not a Workingman.

Moscow, Feb. 21.—Although the identity of the assassin of Grand Duke Sergius has not yet been ascertained, the police have become convinced he is not a workman. His underclothing is of good quality and fashionably made, and his outer workman's garb evidently was assumed as a disguise. He strongly objected to donning prison attire and refused for a long time to take off his warm undershirt for fear of catching cold. The force of the explosion of the bomb which killed the grand duke registered a violent vibration in the Seismograph in the physical institute two miles distant, the recording tape of the instrument showing that the assassination occurred exactly at 2:46 o'clock in the afternoon.

Returns From a Raid.

Mukden, Feb. 21.—General Rennenkampff's division, which moved out Feb. 14, has returned from a daring reconnaissance, having succeeded in passing around the Japanese left flank and penetrating well to the rear, causing considerable consternation along the line of Japanese communications. The losses were insignificant. It was merely a raid, with no intention to strike in the direction of Yinkow.

Why Lecturer Was Killed.

Moscow, Feb. 21.—Henry Victor MacClelland, the English lecturer in the Commercial academy at Moscow, who was assassinated Feb. 15 by a student, met his death because he did not give the latter high enough marks. It is claimed MacClelland imposed in this fashion upon boys who declined to make him presents of money.

TRAGEDY

In Which Her Second Husband Was Killed Reunited the Divorced Indiana Couple.

Washington, Ind., Feb. 21—A peculiar chain of incidents was brought forth when George Bonham, merchant, of Vicksburg, Miss., arrived, and was married to his former wife.

Twenty-five years ago Bonham married Miss Margaret Ennid. Their marriage was not a happy one and a separation followed. Bonham went south, leaving his wife and baby daughhere. Mrs. Bonham married Walter Buckley a few years later, and when the Bonham girl grew into womanhood she married William Kollom.

The story her fancied that Kollom was not treating his young wife right, and during a quarrel three years ago Kollom shot and killed Buckley. The crime came an exchange of letters between Mr Buckley and her former husband, and yesterday Bonham remarried the woman he led to Hymen's altar a quarter of a century ago.

WARRANT IS OUT

FOR ARREST OF KENNERY. ON A FORGERY CHARGE.

It is Alleged That Kennery Signed W H. Thompson's Name to a B. & O. Check.

A warrant has been sworn out in Mayor Crilly's court for the arrest of Charles W. Kennery on the charge of forgery. On last Saturday the B. & O railroad company paid off its employes in this city. W. H. Thompson, an employe, drew his check, but lost it before he had an opportunity of getting it cashed. It is charged that C. W Kennery went into Harris' saloon on Saturday night, and indorsed a check signing the name of W. T. Thompson and under this he wrote his own name He then handed the check to the proprietor, who, thinking everything was straight, cashed it. Later on it was found that Thompson had lost the check. Diligent search had been made for Kennery by the officers, but up to this time they have not succeeded in locating him.

OXFORD GIRL

Arrested in St. Louis With Others on Supposition of Having Robbed a Man.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 21.—After attending a ball at Concordia Hall, Helen Murphy, aged 17, of Oxford, O., was arrested on suspicion of having robbed Alexander Ewart of St. Louis.

Ewart attended a ball at Harmonie hall, where he met Helen Murphy's school mates, Flossie Harrison, aged 17, of Cypress, Ill., and Stella Wilson, aged 17, of Hannibal, Mo. He escorted them to their home, a hotel at Fifteenth and Market streets. At their suggestion he entered the cafe to buy some lunch. The three were lunching when Helen Murphy entered with Dennis Mullen, and joined them.

Ewart fell asleep, and when it came time to settle for the lunch he was awakened. Then he declared that he had been robbed.

A policeman was called, and the five were escorted to the Four Courts. Mullen was afterward released, but the girls were held as minors.

DOGS OF NO USE

Commanders of German Troops in Southwest Africa Wants No More Sent to Him.

Berlin, Feb. 21.—Lieutenant General Von Trotha, commanding the German troops in Damaraland, German Southwest Africa, begs that no more dogs be sent to him for war purposes. The dogs already tried have been of little use. A few months ago the war office consented that dogs be used with the African expeditionary troops as sentinels, for hunting the wounded in the thickets of the country and in tracking the natives. A private agency invited gifts of dogs for these purposes from the public and several hundred, chiefly collies, were sent to Africa.

Recommend Expulsion.

Sacramento, Cal., Feb. 21.—The special committee appointed to investigate charges of bribery against Senators Emmons, Bunkers, Wright and French made a report, recommending that these members be expelled from the senate. The four senators were charged with demanding and accepting a bribe for protecting certain building and loan associations from investigation by the legislative committee on retrenchment and reform, of which they were members.

Second Squadron.

Port Louis, Mauritius, Feb. 21.—The Russian Second Pacific squadron with colliers, totalling 70 ships, was still at Nossi Be on Feb. 16. The Russians were buying stores largely, especially wines and liquors. They asked for 10,000 bags of flour and 50,000 cans of potatoes at prices meaning fortunes for the sellers.

Leaving Town.

Lodz, Russian Poland, Feb. 21.—Slight disturbances occurred in different sections of the city. The large mills remain closed and many persons are leaving the city, owing to the report that a mobilization of reserves will be ordered Feb. 23.

Gorges Breaking.

Evansville, Ind., Feb. 21.—Many of the gorges in the Ohio river above and below Evansville are breaking. The weather is warmer and a general break-up is expected in a few hours. No great damage to river craft is reported.

DENIS DONOHUE

Who is Replying to Lawson's "Frenzied Finance," is Arrested for Criminal Libel.

New York, Feb. 21.—Denis Donohue, financial editor of the New York Commercial, who has been running in magazine a series of articles, "The Truth About Frenzied Finance," which are in reply to the statements of Thomas W. Lawson about financial conditions, was arrested on a warrant issued upon complaint of Herbert Gray of Haverhill, Mass. The complaint alleges that Donahue made statements reflecting upon him amounting to criminal libel in his replies to Lawson's articles. Donohue was paroled when arraigned in police court.

When the trouble comes from the kidneys.
Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills,
And are endorsed by Newark citizens.
Charles Rose, of 349 West Main St., Newark, O., says: "Rheumatism attacked me in the back and loins and I felt touches of it all over my body. I do not think there was a joint that did not pain. My work requires me to stand in water almost constantly, and I think that wet feet was the first cause of my trouble. After suffering for months and months without being able to get anything to help me I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at Crayton's drug store. The day I began using them I was aching all over. My case was so severe that I used three pills three times a day and in forty-eight hours from the time I took the first dose the pain had almost entirely disappeared. I continued the treatment for some little time and have had no return of my trouble since. I have been working in the wet for the past twelve months without suffering at all from my kidneys."

GRAY SAYS HE WILL BE GOOD.

Utica Contractor Declares He Was Not Conscious of His Action Until He and Miss Cline Reached The Pacific Coast.

Utica, O., Feb. 21—Miss Mabel Cline, the girl under sixteen years of age, who disappeared from her home on February 7 at the same time Contractor John Grey, aged 55 years, left his home and family, returned to Utica last evening with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cline, who had left town during the day to meet her. As stated exclusively in yesterday's Advocate, the girl and Gray were at the Ludlow in Newark Sunday night.

Mr. Gray came to Utica last evening also, but left this morning for Newark, where his brother, George Gray, is said to live.

In explaining his departure with the young girl Gray said he was unconscious of what he was doing until he reached Los Angeles, Cal., and there he "woke up" and at once telegraphed home. Immediately afterwards Gray and Miss Cline started upon their return trip from the Pacific coast.

Gray, before going away this morning, said that he intended to visit his brother's home for a few days, rest, ad then come back to Utica to "be good." He is evidently sorry for what he has done.

There may be further developments in the case. The young girl's brother is especially indignant and there are some pretty strong hints today that some action will be taken. Miss Cline is at her parents' home and has not been interviewed.

OVER A WIRE

A Rope Was Thrown, Causing Two Fires and Suspending Street Car Traffic for Hours.

Sandusky, O., Feb. 21—The throwing of a rope over a street car wire by several linemen of the Bell Telephone company caused two fires, suspended street car traffic for several hours, killed one horse and endangered lives in this city last night.

The linemen were repairing some wires in the south end of the city when they absentmindedly threw a wet rope over a street car wire, pulling it down on to the telephone wires. The telephone wires connected to the big barn at the Wagner company's stone quarry and Gottlieb Sturinger's residence. The barn was totally destroyed and seven horses perished in the flames. The Sturinger residence was not damaged to any great extent.

Mr. and Mrs. Helmlick were driving past the stone quarry in a sleigh at the time the wire fell. It came in contact with the horse they were driving, killing it instantly. Both were thrown from the sleigh. Mrs. Hemlick being rendered unconscious. Street car traffic, including the two interurban lines, was suspended for fully five hours.

DYING MAN

Phoned to the Landlady and Told Her to Send a Hearse Instead of a Doctor.

Owingsville, Ky., Feb. 21—O. K. Saunders, of Pittsburg, manager of the Standard Oil company's shipping plant at Salt Lick, this county, committed suicide with morphine.

Saunders was subject to fits of despondency, and in the two years of his residence in this county made two previous attempts to end his life. He went to his office to work at the usual hour yesterday and shortly after reaching there he called up over the telephone to Mrs. W. R. Stephens, at whose home he boarded, telling her of what he had done and requested her not to think harshly of him. She begged im to allow her to send a physician to him, but he said that he was too far gone for medical help and that she had better send a hearse instead. When friends arrived he was dead.

LAWYER MISSING.

Grove Walter Sent Letter to a Friend in Los Angeles Indicating His Suicide.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 21.—Grove Walter, a local attorney and former assistant under States Attorney Deneen, now governor of Illinois, has mysteriously disappeared from his home in this city. It is feared he has committed suicide. Walter left Los Angeles on Feb. 2 and three days later a letter was received from him by a friend here stating that he intended to end his life.

Cortelyou Returns.

New York, Feb. 21.—George B. Cortelyou, former secretary of commerce and labor, was a passenger on the steamer Republic, which arrived from Naples. He was accompanied by Mrs. Cortelyou. Mr. Cortelyou said that he had made a trip for pleasure and rest to Southern France and Italy. He will remain in New York a day or two and later go to Washington.

Martial Law at Palace.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 21.—Martial law has been declared at Tsarskoe Selo, owing to numerous threatening letters being received at the palace. The chief of the secret police has ordered special precautions to prevent any outrage on the imperial family.

DAUGHTER

Accuses Her Father of Appropriating Her Fortune of $249,842—C. W. Laing is Arrested.

Chicago, Feb. 21—Cuthbert W. Laing a real estate dealer of this city, has been arrested on a warrant issued at the instance of his daughter, Mrs. Irene Laing Malcom. The warrant charges the larceny of $249,842.

Laing furnished bonds to the amount of $10,000 and will be arraigned in court March 2.

The arrest of Laing is the latest step in the litigation which has been in progress between him and his daughter for several years. When Mrs. Malcolm was six years of age her mother died, leaving her a large fortune, of which her father was made executor. For many years the daughter knew nothing of the fortune which had been left to her, but after her marriage she made a demand on her father for the money left in his charge, and he was unable to produce it, the greater part of it, according to his statement, having been lost in various business ventures.

Suit against Laing's bondsmen is still pending, one of the bondsmen being ex-United States Senator William E. Mason.

ELECTRIC CHAIR

WAS ALMOST CHEATED OF ITS VICTIM IN COLUMBUS.

Row in the Penitentiary Annex—Condemned Man Pounced Upon Guard Frazee.

Columbus, O., Feb. 21—If Herman Hamilton, colored, the only inmate of the death cell in the penitentiary had not lost his nerve there is no doubt that the electric chair would have been cheated of a victim. Hamilton pounced upon Guard Frazee because the latter would not permit him to exercise in the prison yard.

Warden Gould and other penitentiary officials will not discuss the affair, but the Warden says there was a "little trouble" in the annex. When Guard Frazee's back was turned, it is reported, Hamilton jumped upon him. The negro was unarmed, but the guard took no chances. It is said that Frazee pulled his revolver and fired two shots against the brick wall to bring him to time. The shots had the desired effect.

Now it is announced that Hamilton will not be given another chance to get into the open air and sunlight.

NEWARK MAN

FALL FROM B. & O. BOX CAR AT ZANESVILLE.

C. L. Snyder, Brakeman, Escapes With Severe Bruises and Gashes on His Face.

Zanesville, O., Feb. 21—Two B. & O. brakemen had hard falls Sunday, one in the morning and the other in the afternoon, but neither was seriously injured.

The first one was C. L. Snyder of Newark, a brakeman on the freight known as the Newark and Zanesville turn-around. As his train was pulling out of the West Zanesville yards bound for Newark Sunday, Snyder was riding on the top of a box car. The top of the car was very slippery and as the train was crossing Pearl street an unusual jolt caused him to fall. He was unable to catch himself and he fell the entire distance to the ground, alighting on his side. He was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital where Dr. E. C. Brush attended him. It was found that he was not seriously injured although his face was badly cut and he was bruised over his whole body. He returned to his home in Newark at noon.

Joe Himmelspach, yard brakeman, fell while uncoupling some cars in the local yards Sunday afternoon. He slipped on the icy ground and was thrown heavily. His face was badly cut and he narrowly escaped going under the cars.

IRRITATION

of the throat, sore and swollen tonsils, loss of voice, and other throat troubles should never be neglected. These ailments quickly work down to the lungs, and often end in consumption or pneumonia. Hamlins Wizard Oil used as a gargle, ad externally on the throat, is a marvelous remedy for these painful and dangerous disorders, and effects relief and cure after everything else has failed.

Says Henry Wade, of Harlin, Mo: "I am under obligations to you for the great good which Hamlins Wizard Oil did my wife. She suffered from throat trouble for a year, and though she doctored and doctored, nothing did her any good, until she tried Hamlins Wizard Oil." Price 50c and $1.00.

Are the Charges Made at Charleston—West Virginia Senate Committee Concludes Work.

Charleston, W. Va., Feb. 21.—The senate investigation committee adjourned without substantiating any of the charges made against Governor White or any other state official. The investigation was conducted in the senate chamber. Senator Caldwell, in refutation of the corruption charges made against him in Governor White's message, read the affidavits of doctors interested in the pending medical legislation, clearing him of any charge of accepting money to champion the bill. Governor White made an emphatic statement that he had never shared in the fees of any beneficiary or appointee. Governor-Elect Dawson, who was charged with being involved in a scheme to secure a decrease in the fees of foreign corporations in consideration of a division of the decrease to be secured by legislation also denied all knowledge of the alleged scheme. Senator Caldwell has withdrawn the charges and apologized for making the corruption charges against Governor White or Governor Elect Dawson.

SOME DON'TS FOR NEWARKITES

Don't injure Newark by saying mean things about her. Help her with good words.

Don't let good words suffice. Reenforce them with deeds.

Don't pry on Newark's faults. Take pride in her virtues.

Don't say Newark is slow. Census reports, postoffice records, railroad statistics, bank clearings show she is pretty fast.

Don't think Newark is standing still. New buildings, new enterprises, tremendous advances in the value of real estate show that she is not.

Don't think that non-resident capitalists are passing Newark by. Their demands for real estate and their establishment of new concerns tell another story.

Don't let the outsider get all the good things. Get into the game yourself.

Don't make the mistake of underestimating the possibilities of Newark. A population close to 25 000 is not to be despised.

Don't seek elsewhere for opportunities to invest your capital. There are just as good opportunities at home.

Don't think that furniture, dry goods, jewelry, groceries and other articles are better when you purchase them in a city having a larger population. Greater population does not mean better quality. You will find great stocks in our home stores at prices probably more reasonable.

Don't forget that every dollar spent in Newark helps every individual in Newark. In this way every spender helps himself.

Don't think that nothing great can come from a place where you live. Something worse can come from places where somebody else lives.

Don't grumble.

Don't knock.

Help boost.

CALLED

The Colonel "Willie," and Mrs. Cody Was Always Kind and Considerate.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Feb. 21—The trial of the Cody divorce case was resumed yesterday, witnesses for both sides being examined. Dr. C. L. Gillam of Cody, Wyo., gave testimony for the plaintiff, Wm. F. Cody. He accompanied Colonel and Mrs. Cody and a large party on a hunting trip in the Big Horn country in 1899. On that trip he testified that he heard Mrs. Cody say that her husband had wanted her to accompany him to Europe, but that she "would not go anywhere with the old reprobate."

Charles F. Iddings, a merchant of North Platte, Neb., was called for the defense. He had attended many social affairs given by the Codys, he testified, and had never seen Mrs. Cody use liquor.

"How did Mrs. Cody treat those about her, and, especially the members of her family?" was asked.

"She was always very kind and considerate both with the members of her family and their guests. She seemed to be very proud of Cody, and addressed him as 'Willie.'"

In reply to another question Mr. Iddings said:

"I consider Mrs. Cody a better business manager than her husband."

Arthur McNamara, president of the First National Bank of North Platte, Neb., corroborated Iddings' testimony with reference to the character of Mrs. Cody.

HARMONY

The harmony of a well decorated house is a joy in itself, and such a house is a most pleasurable accompaniment to the domestic and social life within its walls.

Is such a house possible except for those who have large means? To be sure it is. How strange it is that people will persist in thinking that a thing must be costly if it is artistic.

It costs no more to make a straight line than to make a crooked one. Art consists in the way a thing is done, the taste, skill and intelligence put into it. Sometimes the less expensive material may have in itself as much art value as materials of vastly greater cost. Let us help you by our advice and by showing you our new line of up-to-date decorations—wall papers and wall fabrics. Our spring line is now complete.

IN CLASS RUSH

BONES WERE BROKEN OVER AT OHIO WESLEYAN.

Sophomores and Freshmen Have a Lively Rush in Which Casualties Are Numerous.

Delaware, O., Feb. 21—The sophomores and freshmen class rush at the Ohio Wesleyan was forfeited last night by the freshmen after a deliberation of two hours. In the rush these students were injured: N. T. Spiker, Eva, O., freshman, broken wrist; S. P. Holden, Bloomingburg, O., sophomore, scalp wound; A. W. Prout, Prout, O., nose broken; H. I. Dean, Hartford City, Ind., sophomore, sprained back; R. L. Cameron, Lorain, O., rendered sensless and assisted from the field; R. B. Morrow, Campbellstown, O., sophomore, fingers gashed with some sharpened instrument.

At the conference the sophomores accepted the forfeiture of the contest from the freshmen and pledged to make no demonstration at chapel services this afternoon.

PICTURE

Of Daughter Hangs in Yard, an Advertisement, He Says of Her Great Ingratitude.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 21—Armed with a shotgun and with plenty of ammunition, James Lane, at one time a wealthy farmer occupies his farmhouse near Havana and threatens to kill the first one who steps a foot on the old homestead without his permission.

In the front yard, facing the public highway, is a large portrait of his daughter, Genevieve, which he says he has placed there as an advertisement of a daughter's ingratitude.

While Lane was in Havana today a constable foreclosed a mortgage on the old homestead and set all Lane's effects out in the road. A constable was left to guard the property. When Lane returned his shotgun was among the effects that had been moved. Picking it up he drove off the custodian and moved his goods back into the house.

He formerly owned a fine farm of 100 acres in Mason county. He was an admirer of race horses and it is said bet heavily at times on events of this character. He also had a daughter who was vivacious and attractive. She and her father are reputed to have had many disagreements. She married and the disagreements continued.

Misfortune overtook the old man in his declining years and he was forced to give a mortgage on the home place. His daughter knew of this and bought it up. It came due and she foreclosed it, having an officer remove the old man's effects during his absence. He promptly regained possession of the fort and is now holding it, with a probability that there will be bloodshed before he is ousted.
